ENROLLMENT IS HEAVY

High and Junior Highs in Big Gains But Elementary Institutions Drop

SUMMER vacation ended today for students of the Santa Ana and Orange county elementary, high schools and junior colleges when they returned to school with the majority of the institutions showing an increased enrollment.

Enrollment in the Santa Ana schools, while under the number anticipated, showed a slight increase over opening day of last year. There was a total of 5621 students enrolled in all schools of the city, with the exception of junior college, as compared to 5589 enrolled on opening day last year.

School authorities, however, expect a heavy increase of enrollment by the end of this week. They pointed to the fact that the opening day enrollment of the city's three Mexican schools is always low and increases by the end of the week.

Junior high schools and the high school showed increases in enrollment with the entire drop being in the elementary schools. Figures were not available for the Junior College as enrollment for that institution started this morning.

Elementary Schools

Enrollment in the city's elementary schools this morning totaled 3132, slightly under the enrollment of 3295 for opening day last year. Julia Lathrop junior high school enrollment this morning was 693, last year it was 569 and at the Frances Willard junior high school today's enrollment was 685. Last year the enrollment there was 678. School officials also expect an increase at the Willard school. Last year, on opening day the high school enrollment was 1045, today it was 1111.

Enrollment in the elementary system by schools is: Delhi, 225; Edison, 261; Franklin, 204; Fremont, 267; Hoover, 137; Jefferson, 186; Lincoln, 185; Logan, 155; Lowell, 317; McKinley, 310; Muir, 129; Roosevelt, 223; Spurgeon, 318; Wilson, 215.

Fullerton junior college expected to have 675 students at the end of the day, according to estimate of Dean W. T. Boyce. Six hundred and thirty-two pupils had been enrolled Saturday and a number of others signed at the school this morning. At the end of the first week of school last year, 645 students were enrolled and by the first of October, the number had reached 745.

The opening assembly will be held at Fullerton college at 11 a. m., Tuesday, with addresses given by Mayor W. L. Hale, the Rev. F. E. Hawes of the Ministerial association; Louis Plummer, principal; Arthur Staley, president of the school board; and Harry May, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Harold Nicolson, official college organizer, will present several numbers.

Complete figures were not available at the Fullerton Union High school but over 1100 students had enrolled this morning, with many

REPORT BALLOONISTS SAFE

Fears for the safety of four missing balloonists were expelled today with word that all had been heard from. Ward T. Van Orman upper left and Frank A. Trotter, right, are said to have landed at Timagani Provincial Forest and Lieut. Z. Burzynski, left, and Captain F. Hynek, Polish airmen, are safe at Quebec.

AMERICAN AND POLISH AIRMEN REPORTED SAFE

Ward Van Orman and Aide Walk Eight Days in Effort to Send Word

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Ward T. Van Orman and Frank Trotter reported to the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company today they had landed safely a week ago Sunday night at Timagani Provincial Forest.

The message was relayed to the Goodyear office here by the Sudbury office of the Hydro-Electric Construction company, which has a branch office near Timagani.

The balloon which Van Orman and Trotter took off a week ago Saturday night was damaged in the landing in a thunder storm, according to the message.

The message read: "Landed Sunday night, September 3, in thunder storm at Timagani Provincial Forest. Balloon damaged by trees. Finally reached Hydro-Electric Construction company today, September 11."

That the men had been nearly eight days finding the Hydro-Electric company office indicates the inaccessibility of the country in which the balloon came to earth.

POLISH BALLOONISTS CLAIM NEW RECORD

QUEBEC, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Two Polish balloonists who threw away their food supplies over a desolate forest region arrived today with what they believe is a new record of 1,050 miles in the Gordon Bennett cup races.

BURMAH WHITE TO FACE JURY TUESDAY

Evidence in 15 robbery counts against Burmah Adams White, of Santa Ana, blonde bandit suspect, will be presented to the county grand jury tomorrow, Los Angeles District Attorney Buren S. Pitts declared today.

Mrs. White's husband, Thomas White, was shot and killed by officers who sought to arrest him for the shooting of Crombie Allen, retired publisher, and Cora Withington, school teacher, during a holdup.

Pitts said the officers who arrested Mrs. White, Arthur Bergeron, Harry Maxwell, R. G. Anderson and W. C. Burris, would take the girl before the grand jury. It was indicated she would refuse to testify.

Principal witnesses will be those persons who identified her at a police "showup", Pitts added.

BANDITS GET $100,000 IN ROBBERY OF EXPRESS AUTO

Safes Taken By St. Paul Gangsters

Currency and Securities Seized in Union Station at Daybreak

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Two small safes containing $100,000 in currency and securities were seized by eight gunmen who held up employees of the Railway Express agency today.

The gang, who executed its robbery beneath the concourse of the union station, escaped. The holdup occurred a few feet from the train that was waiting with steam up to take the shipment of valuables to Minneapolis.

The bandits sprang from the dim light under the station as the truck containing the shipment drew to a stop. Three of the bandits brandished sawed-off shotguns and two were armed with automatic pistols.

In the truck were T. J. Mangan, St. Paul, a guard, and B. Boles, Minneapolis, the messenger. Both were ordered out of the truck. Mangan coolly surveyed the men and a large dark sedan, which he saw back in the shadows, until the leader of the gang ordered him and Boles to face a wall.

Two of the bandits menaced the messenger and guard while the others drove the truck over to the sedan. The safes were transferred in a few seconds.

As the bandits sped out of the concourse basement toward the east they fired several shots into the air. Before fleeing the bandits had disarmed the guard and messenger who had to content themselves with spreading an alarm. The bandits were masked with white handkerchiefs.

Chief of Police Thomas Dahill ordered a concentration about the downtown district of squad cars from all parts of the city. Many Minneapolis police cars drove into St. Paul to aid in the hunt.

The money was being shipped from St. Paul banks to institutions in Minneapolis. A portion of the loot was non-negotiable, but it was estimated at least $60,000 was in cash.

Her nearest approach to an explanation of why she fired a shot into Grace's abdomen, Murphy said, was her remark that "a long series of lies and insults" by Grace led her to the act.

The district attorney said she accused Grace of spreading scandal about her. She denied there has ever been a romance between them.

Miss Weitz, former war nurse, was employed a year and a half ago to care for Grace, who was subject to periodic spells of heart trouble.

Former Employee

Grace's widow, herself an invalid, said Miss Weitz worked for them about two weeks, understanding the position was temporary.

Murphy quoted the nurse as saying:

SLAYER'S FATHER SEEKING REPRIEVE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Hoping to secure a further reprieve for Jack D. Green, condemned to die on the gallows next Friday at San Quentin prison, J. H. Green, of Salt Lake, father of the youth today visited the state capitol to confer with William Smith, private secretary to Governor Rolph.

Young Green was convicted with Joseph F. Regan of the slaying of Police Lieutenant Hugh Crowley during a theater holdup in Los Angeles. Regan has already been executed for the crime.

Governor Rolph, ill in a San Francisco hospital, had promised he would hear further clemency pleas from Green's father before the execution date. Illness of the Governor, however, has prevented an interview and the elder Green hoped today to secure a reprieve for his son at least until Rolph is able to see him.

FAMED EXPERT IS CALLED IN LAMSON TRIAL

Noted Criminologist Seeks to Show Death Caused By Fall in Tub

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 11.—(UP)—The central figure of a score of the west's most celebrated criminal cases, Dr. E. O. Heinrich, came to David A. Lamson's aid today in the murder trial of the young Stanford campus intellectual.

Heinrich, famed Berkeley criminologist, was presented by the defense in an effort to show Mrs. Alene Thorpe Lamson could have died from an accidental fall in her Palo Alto home Memorial day. The state charges her husband struck and killed her in anger over alleged frustration.

The man who once solved a sensational holdup through a button and a shroud of cloth, brought packages, rolls of paper, and a valise into court when the trial began its fourth week. Gum chewing George Weber, amateur sleuth who has provided the comic relief of the court ordeal, assisted the witness in arranging his "properties."

The defendant entered the courtroom with a springy smile, smiled and waved to relatives, and

The heaviest burden of this debt is carried by cities, with outstanding bonds of $449,569,928, the report said. Other issues were listed as follows:

Districts, $248,269,914; state, $142,369,500; county, $42,658,900; irrigation, $95,982,920; and reclamation, $31,581,995.

Special districts, not included in county rates, and improvement issues, such as lighting districts, were not included in the tabulation.

L. A. WOMAN ROBBED IN CHICAGO HOTEL

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Mrs. Madeline Lewis, 29, of Los Angeles, was beaten and robbed by a man who entered her apartment early today soon after she returned there from a trip downtown, she reported to police.

The intruder, Mrs. Lewis said, struck her on the nose, snatched two rings from her finger, seized a purse containing $20 and fled.

Mrs. Lewis came here with her husband to attend the world's fair. Her husband returned home a few days ago.

UNION EMBRACING FARMERS AND WORKERS UNDER CODE OF NRA ENDORSED AT MEETING

POMONA, Cal., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Organization of a union embracing unskilled laborers and agricultural workers under the NRA code was endorsed at a regional conference of workers and farmers held here Saturday at which J. Stitt Wilson, former mayor of Berkeley, was the principal speaker.

Several hundred persons attended the meeting, representing most of the Southern California counties. Cooperation with the national recovery act was stressed in endorsing organization of a union of industrial and agricultural workers.

The group pledged itself to receive wages not less than those provided by the NRA blanket code or its own scale and decried the use of unemployment as strikebreakers in wage disputes.

Destruction of excess field crops also was attacked by the group which suggested canning or distribution among the poor of any overproduction.

Organization of a protective association to guard against mortgage foreclosures also was voted by the gathering.

Edwin Johe of Covina presided.

NEW PRESIDENT OF CUBA WORKS OVER CABINET

New Government Hopeful of Peace and Intervention Believed Remote

HAVANA, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Hopeful that the danger of armed American intervention had passed, President Ramon Grau San Martin today sought to complete his cabinet and rally political leaders to his support.

There was only one incident to break the calm of the capital, a bomb exploded at 2 a. m. today at Colon and Aguila streets, near the gas and electricity station. It was thought possible the bomb was exploded in connection with the public demands for lower utility rates.

The new president, inaugurated at noon yesterday, hoped to persuade leaders of the half dozen political parties that only by backing him in a nationalist government could intervention be averted and normal conditions restored.

Confused as the situation was, the universal opposition of Cubans of all shades of political opinion to intervention was pronounced and was being solidified in anti-American feeling.

From Communists to members of the government, expressions were unanimous against intervention and any American interference in Cuban affairs.

May Win Support

Largely because of the possibility of intervention, Grau San Martin may win the support of army and navy officers, who since Friday had been unwelcome guests at the National hotel, where American Ambassador Sumner Welles resides.

In a proclamation early today the officers accepted in principle a set of unspecified government proposals. They said they were "camped" at the hotel only to consult among themselves and negotiate with the government. Their weapons, they said, were far from defense only. They are heavily armed.

VINEYARDISTS TO CONFER WITH MEN

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 11.—(UP)—A conference designed to settle labor troubles in Fresno county vineyard districts was to be held tonight by strike leaders and state labor officials.

Fred Huss, deputy state labor commissioner, called the meeting after investigating the strike situation with Herbert Williamson, state labor commission representative.

Delegations from all San Joaquin valley grape growing sections were expected to attend.

The sheriff's office, besieged Saturday with calls from ranchers reporting strike agitation, said the situation was quiet Sunday, with little indication of further disorder.

EDISON COMPANY'S PRESIDENT PASSES

A native of West Plain, N. Y., Ward joined the Southern California Edison company in 1905 as engineering adviser. In 1917 he was made vice president in charge of construction. His climb in the vice presidential ranks culminated in his appointment last October as president. He succeeded Russell H. Ballard who died.

MAINE VOTING ON REPEAL OF DRY LAW TODAY

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Maine, dry since 1851, voted today on ratification of the 21st (repeal) amendment. Impartial observers predicted it would be the 26th consecutive state to repudiate national prohibition.

Today's election opened the final phase of the drive to repeal the 18th amendment this year. If Maine falls into line, repeals will need only 10 more states, Colorado, Minnesota and Maryland vote tomorrow. Idaho and New Mexico vote a week from tomorrow; Virginia, Oct. 3; Florida, Oct. 10; Ohio, Pennsylvania, North and South Carolina and Utah, Nov. 7. The wets could lose two states and still be victorious.

Fair, autumn-like weather prevailed, and this was considered by the dries as favorable to their cause.

Repeal cannot become an actuality, however, until Dec. 5 or 6. Ohio holds its formal ratification

FILE CHARGES AGAINST HOLDER OF STOLEN BOND

Charges of burglary and grand theft were placed against Robert Seacord, accused of burglarizing the B. J. MacMullen garage, last night, when he was arraigned this morning before Judge Kenneth Morrison in the justice court. Preliminary hearing will be held September 13, and bail was set at $5000.

Seacord will attempt to fight the charges and prove his innocence, he declared today. He is accused of robbing the safe of the garage and taking a $500 Liberty bond and $125 in cash. He insists he found the bond on the floor of a Tia Juana gambling house and had never been in Santa Ana because he hitch-hiked across the continent to San Diego from New York. He was arrested trying to cash the stolen bond in a San Diego bank.

Police have launched a wide investigation which may involve the suspect in the recent McFadden-Dale Hardware and L. D. Coffing garage safe cracking jobs. Chief of Police Floyd Howard, who is in charge of the investigation, said that the three burglaries, in addition to the safe cracking at the Mill-McCoy garage in Fullerton, were all similar in method and may have been committed by Seacord.

The fact that he had identification cards from both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, issued in New York has aroused suspicion and fingerprints and description of him have been rushed to Washington, D. C. It has been ascertained that he did not leave Santa Ana by rail or bus for San Diego Monday night and officers are seeking a car he might have driven. He spent the night in the border city at a hotel.

Chief Howard said that Lieut. Detective Pat Slattery of San Diego was responsible for Seacord's arrest in a bank only a few minutes after police teletype messages arrived from Orange county.

"Dodge Mono-Piece Steel Body SAVED OUR LIVES"

"I WAS driving to Chicago with my family to attend the World's Fair," says the Rev. J. F. Hutchinson, minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Storm Lake, Iowa, "but near Fort Dodge, another car suddenly cut across our path, forcing us into a deep ditch.

"My Dodge Six went down the embankment, turning over several times, struck a telephone post, breaking it off, then landed in the ditch right side up.

"I feel certain that had it not been for the steel body of my Dodge car, my entire family would have been killed. The Dodge car saved us. We came through with no serious permanent injuries, miraculous as it seems.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 11. (To the Editor of The Register:) Well, I guess I am all wet as usual, but a headline in all the papers like this don't particularly add to my patriotism "Cuba picks new President as battleship Mississippi steams into port" any more than the following one would: "United States of America having internal trouble and His Majesty King George has dispatched his dreadnaughts to stand by in New York Harbor to protect British investments in America and to see that the right man is elected." But that couldn't happen for we are both big nations and would mean war, but when one nation is big and one is little why the little nation's port is just like a public regatta. Everybody can come in that's got a boat. The whole thing as I see it all over the world today is, that the little nations has got no business being little.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

shook hands with Weber. The jurors appeared in freshly laundered clothing after a weekend of card-playing and picnicking.

Heinrich delivered a lecture on the aspects of blood as the drops emerge from either the arteries or the veins. The former drops take the "form of an exclamation point; the latter of an oval or circular crown."

His offer to illustrate from a textbook drawing was blocked by the state. But while attorneys were arguing the point, Edwin M. Rea, chief defense counsel, held the drawing up in view of the jury.

The witness covered a blackboard with weird shapes drawn in yellow chalk to illustrate his point.

Although Grau San Martin, former National university professor of medicine, seemed gaining some support, he did not have the adhesion of most of the important political elements. Of the leaders, only Miguel Mariano Gomez, head of the Marianista party, declared for him. The position of the Menocalistas and the National Union was not known.

The powerful ABC revolutionary society seemed definitely opposed, largely because it dislikes Sergio Carbo, one of the members of the executive committee that seized power from President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes a week ago.

Plans Election

He hoped he might win them over by persuading them he could carry on a non-political government while the parties busied themselves with plans for an eventual election.

Havana thought the change of government a fiasco. Crowds, shooting off firecrackers, moved through the principal streets last night, celebrating the installation of the third government within 80 days.

There was no disorder. Three policemen were the sole guards as 6000 communists held a demonstration in Central park Sunday and denounced Ambassador Welles for interference.

Talks Over Radio

The new president in his first speech after inauguration declared the revolution had given Cuba a new freedom. He spoke at a radio station and his speech was broadcast over the country. It was an appeal for support.

"I am fully aware of the difficulties and responsibilities of the situation," he said. "They stimulate us to prudence. It is my fervent desire that our beloved country, now free from foreign influence, may go forward on the road to progress."

SUSPECT IN HIT-RUN CASE JAILED HERE

Protesting ignorance of the case but surrounded by a chain of evidence, Domingo Munoz, 45, Riverside Mexican, was arrested in Riverside Saturday afternoon and brought to the Orange county jail by Santa Ana police on charges of failing to stop and render aid after an accident on September 3 at First and Garfield streets.

Munoz was held following advice from Sacramento that he was the local owner of the car which was abandoned in the middle of the street following the wreck. Ray Donald Chesley, 5614 Alhama street,

Los Angeles, driver of the other car, and his companion, Miss Loretta Grant, who was slightly injured, both said Munoz resembled the man who ran away from the wreck when they visited him at the jail yesterday.

Police are now seeking the man who sold the car to Munoz, since the Mexican denies ever having owned the car having been in Santa Ana, or of knowing how to drive a car. Further advices from Sacramento revealed that the car was registered to a man with the same name at 1118 West Third street before the address was changed to Riverside.

The accident occurred on the evening of September 3. The Mexican collided head-on with the Chesley car, with Miss Grant receiving minor cuts and a broken tooth.

REVEAL MARRIAGE OF BASIL SMITH

Corridors of the court house were buzzing this morning when it was revealed that Basil J. Smith, registration deputy under County Clerk J. M. Backs and Miss Lottie Crawford, of Orange, have been married for more than a year.

They were married August 6, 1932 in Yuma, Ariz., following a fashion set approximately three years ago when Edna Backs, daughter of County Clerk Backs, and Don Squires of the California highway patrol were married in Kingman, Ariz., as they, too, kept their marriage a secret for a year.

Smith, well-known in Orange county, is the son of Mrs. Dama B. Smith, 1230 French street. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Crawford, of Orange. The bride and groom are living in Orange at present but after November 1 expect to be at home on Smith's ranch at Tustin.

They were safe after having been lost for five days in the forest, where they endured hunger and hardships before reaching the town of Riviere a Pierre. They said they were ready to compete in the 1934 races if the Polish government ordered it.

The balloonists, Capt. Hynek and Lieut. Burzynski came here with Poland's acting consul general, who went to Riviere a Pierre to meet them.

The balloonists carried a small bag and coats, all that was left for them to travel with for five days in dense forests.

"We landed because we thought we would drift out to the Atlantic ocean, seeing that we were going in an easterly direction," Lieut. Burzynski informed the United Press.

"We jettisoned our provisions to gain a few extra yards, and to gain a record for Poland, and all we had left when we landed was a dozen oranges and forty raisins.

"These 'iron rations' constituted our only food until Saturday, when we had our first real meal in over a week."

"What about the balloon?" came next.

"We have an airplane that I think is going out to try and locate it today," broke in acting Consul Pijanowski.

Capt. Hynek leader of the expedition revealed that the balloonists had gained a maximum height of 19,500 feet.

They were eager for news of other balloonists who had not been reported, but expressed the hope that they would be found safe and sound, even if it meant their own record being beaten.

NURSE ACCUSED IN MURDER OF FRANCIS GRACE

"Eight months ago I went to his hotel apartment in San Francisco with the intention of killing him. But the gun was taken away from me and I was ejected."

"I'm glad I did it. I don't care what they do with me so long as they get it over quickly. I don't even want an attorney."

Murphy said she appeared undisturbed when he told her he would charge her with murder after the inquest today.

"She told me there had been some scandal about her and Grace, but that it was without foundation," said Murphy. "She said she had a good reason for killing him, but refused to tell what it was."

Murphy said she told him she decided to kill Grace when she left his employment and waited her opportunity with patience and cunning.

When Grace appeared on the grounds with his nurse, Helene Roberts, Miss Weitz crossed the street and engaged him in an argument. Witnesses said she suddenly brought a gun from under her coat and fired one shot. She was disarmed by Miss Roberts and Richard Frank, butler.

Frank said she demanded he return the gun to her that she might commit suicide.

"I'm afraid you're too sensitive," Miss Roberts heard Grace respond just before he was shot.

HOLD INQUEST TOMORROW FOR CRASH VICTIM

While Coroner Earl Abbey was conducting a wide search for witnesses to the fatal accident, an inquest into the death of Mrs. Helen Wiebe, 49, 1223 East First street, who was killed Saturday morning south of San Clemente, when a car driven by R. L. Greenleaf of Santa Ana overturned, was scheduled for tomorrow at 10 a. m. from the Winbiger funeral home.

Mrs. Louise Henshaw, 103 Grand avenue, who received a skull fracture and cuts and bruises in the wreck, is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital where physicians say she has a good chance to recover. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Greenleaf, 807 North Flower street and Curt Wiebe, son of the dead woman, were slightly injured.

Greenleaf, 73, driving on the coast highway south of San Clemente, overturned his car while passing another machine. He apparently misjudged the speed of an approaching car and tried to swerve back to the right side of the road. His car overturned three times. Neither the car he was passing nor the approaching car stopped after the accident, it was reported by Coroner Earl Abbey, and an appeal has been sent out for them to report and give their version of the accident.

Naval officers from San Diego riding in a car close behind the Greenleaf machine, were the first to arrive at the scene of the wreck. They extricated the five persons from the car and rushed them to San Clemente for medical aid. The body of Mrs. Wiebe was taken to the Divil Funeral home in that city.

Mrs. Wiebe, whose husband, Gustav H. Wiebe, passed away in Santa Ana several years ago, is survived by her daughter, Helen Wiebe, 18, June graduate of the Santa Ana high school; one son, Curt; her mother, Mrs. Marie Kroeker and sister, Miss Linda Kroeker of Helstead, Kansas, an aunt, Mrs. Hannah Kroeker, and uncle, Herman Kroeker, both of Pasadena.

convention Dec. 4, Pennsylvania, Dec. 5, and North and South Carolina, Dec. 6.

Predictions of the wet victory in Maine ranged as high as 2½ to 1, the most conservative being 3 to 2.

Next to Kansas, Maine had been established as the driest of the states. In 1851 Neal Dow, Quaker prohibitionist, framed and engineered the passage of the state's prohibition law. The first formidable rebellion was last year when Governor Louis J. Brann, democrat, and three democratic congressmen were elected on warring wet platforms. In recent months, the state permitted sale of 3.2 beer.

Drys insisted they anticipated victory today, but none would give estimates. A few admitted the results would be close.

A light vote, which will favor the wets, was anticipated. The mechanics of the election give the drys an advantage. The candidates to the state convention are not designated on the ballot as wet or dry, nor are they arbitrarily pledged to either side. The 80 delegates are not being selected at large, but by counties.

MARYLAND

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Size of the wet majority was generally regarded as the only question in doubt as Maryland, one of the pioneer states in the repeal movement, prepared to vote on the issue tomorrow.

Observers considered a repeal victory practically certain, although Superintendent Crabbe of the State Anti-Saloon league said that "if Maryland goes wet it will be because the people fail to vote in large numbers."

COLORADO

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Colorado drys and repealists closed their campaigns today. Voters ballot on the 21st amendment tomorrow.

Prohibitionists conducted a vigorous campaign, but on the basis of the overwhelming wet victory in the November, 1932, election, when all state liquor laws were repealed, it was predicted the state would enter the repeal column by a large margin.

MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Andrew J. Volstead, author of the nation's prohibition law, campaigned in Minnesota today urging citizens to support the 18th amendment when they vote tomorrow on the proposed 21st (repeal) amendment. Volstead, whose home is in Great Falls, Minn., was called by anti-repealists to join in the campaign.

Drys claimed a victory in Minnesota if a heavy vote is polled. Governor Olson, however, a repealist, predicted that Minnesota would stay in line with other states which have balloted for repeal.

LOOT TAKEN AS HOME RANSACKED

Two young men who are believed to have ransacked the home of D. M. Blossom, 719 Delaware street, Huntington Beach, and stole about $25 of personal belongings and currency sometime Saturday night, were being sought by police today.

Blossom reported that among the articles found missing were two pairs of socks, $10 in cash, two packages of cigarettes, two fountain pens, flashlight, knife and watch. The men, seen by neighbors near the house, were last seen near the high school and entered the house while the family was away.

Local Briefs

A small fire in a car at Second and Main streets was extinguished by Officer R. S. Elliott yesterday.

William Samuels, Hollywood, was treated at the Orange County hospital yesterday for a cut in the head received from an iron swing at Irvine park.

Angel Cavillo, 902 Logan street, who said he was trying to separate two men in a fight last night, is confined at the Orange County hospital with scalp wounds and a severe knife wound in the abdomen. He was taken to the hospital by Santa Ana police.

TWO ACCIDENTS OCCUR AT SAME INTERSECTION

Eighteen persons were injured in nine traffic accidents Saturday and Sunday, which added to the toll of a serious wreck at San Clemente Saturday, previously reported, in which Mrs. Helen Wiebe was killed, brings the week end total to one dead and 22 injured.

Two accidents at Seventeenth and Huntington Beach boulevards yesterday injured five persons.
At 3 p. m., cars driven by Archibald K. Koger, 215 Culver street, Orange, and Frank Vega, 32, West Fifth street, Santa Ana, collided. Vega, reported by officers to have been drinking, was lodged in the county jail for drunk driving. He failed to make a boulevard stop, officers said, and overturned the Koger machine. Mr. and Mrs. Koger and Mrs. Fred Giever, Orange, were injured and taken to their homes.

Gabriel Pena, 20, Jesus Cruz, 22, and Martin Vogel, 23, all of Westminster, were seriously hurt at 10 o'clock last night when the car in which they were riding crashed into a truck driven by W. Shipman, 32, Los Angeles, at this intersection. Shipman, driving south on Huntington Beach boulevard, turned west into Seventeenth street and was struck by the Pena machine. Pena and Vogel were both taken to the Orange County hospital with severe cuts, scalp wounds and head injuries. Official reports indicate that both Pena and Vogel had been drinking and drunk driving charges may be pressed against Pena.

Three Car Crash
Four persons were hurt at 10 p. m. Saturday night in a peculiar three-car accident on the Coast highway near Main street in Huntington Beach. C. O. Gaughan, 24, Long Beach, driving south on the Coast boulevard, drove into the rear of a car driven by R. H. Hammond, 52, Riverside. The Gaughan machine then swerved across the highway and struck a car driven by Mrs. Carrie Scott, Davidson City. Neither Mrs. Scott or her husband were hurt. Mr. and Mrs. William Gaughan, and Miss Nona Acton, 21, riding with Gaughan, were hurt and given treatment at the emergency hospital in Huntington Beach. Police said Gaughan had been drinking.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Lipscomb, 927 Hampshire avenue, Huntington Beach, were slightly injured Sunday morning when their car and a machine driven by Mrs. Ellen Pettit, Belvedere Gardens, collided at Hampshire and Quincy streets.

Mrs. Effie Rayner, Tustin avenue, Newport Heights, was badly shaken up and bruised yesterday afternoon when her car overturned after a collision with a machine driven by Thomas C. Bouchny, which also overturned. She was pinned under the wreckage but miraculously escaped injury.

Child Injured
John Radwell, five years old, Garden Grove, received a broken collar bone Saturday afternoon when he ran out from behind a wagon on West First street, directly into a car driven by Winthrop O. Gordon, 28, Los Angeles.

Gonetta Verzani, 18, Gardena was given treatment at the Orange County hospital yesterday for injuries received when he fell from a motorcycle. He suffered a fractured leg and numerous cuts and bruises.

Jose Chavez, 33, El Modena, received a possible fractured collar bone and Raymond Curiel, El Modena, was slightly cut when their car overturned at Esplanada and Fairhaven avenues yesterday afternoon. Chavez is confined at the Orange County hospital.

Broken Melons Made It Too Slippery

The traditional slippery banana peel had a new rival in Santa Ana Saturday, following a wreck at Fairview and Parton streets, in which a number of watermelons were knocked off a produce truck.

The ripe melons, considerably shaken up, made the street so slippery that residents complained to police that another accident could easily be caused. The remains of the melons were finally picked up and the street cleared by a crew from the street cleaning department.

WATER DISTRICT ELECTION DATE MAY BE OCT. 18

County Clerk J. M. Backs indicated today that he will go before the board of supervisors tomorrow and recommend that the election of directors for the recently created Orange county water district be held October 18.

Backs said today that the supervisors are required under the water district act to call an election within 60 days after the act becomes effective. The act became effective August 21.

The election will be held in all portions of the county with the exception of Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton and Seal Beach cities and the San Clemente-San Juan Capistrano area.

In the event October 18 is the date established for the election, candidates may file their nomination petitions starting September 18. The election law specifies that candidates must file their petitions not less than 15 nor more than 30 days prior to the election.

Nominating petitions must be signed by not less than 25 qualified voters, according to the law. Under the rules governing the special election qualified voters are property owners whose names are on the assessment rolls of the county.

STATE SCHOOL CHIEF TELLS OF SCHOOL ISSUES

Speaking here Saturday at the general meeting of teachers prior to the opening of school, Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, told his audience that there are five major problems to be solved by educators and members of the school boards.

The problems facing the schools, he said, are, district reorganization, the tenure problem, finances, educational reorganization and public relationship.

It is imperative, Kersey said, that school systems be reorganized to eliminate much of the overlapping administrative cost and functions of the various boards and departments.

The tenure problem must be settled in some manner, according to the speaker, that will assure the teacher of a future of security and at the same time eliminate many of the objections expressed against the present tenure law.

Retention of school affairs in the hands of educators rather than placing them in the hands of legislators was urged by Kersey who told of attempts made during the last session of legislature to remove the control of schools from the educators to the floor of the legislature.

A bill to charge tuition for all students attending public schools from the tenth grade upward was presented during the recent session and was defeated by a narrow margin, according to the speaker.

Kersey said that members of school boards and educators must always remember that the system of public education implies no tuition.

He also reminded his listeners that school budgets should be in the hands of the board of education elected by the people and kept off the floor of the legislature and questions affecting internal working of the schools should be in the hands of educators not decided in the legislature.

The speaker was introduced by County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson as was J. C. Cranston, former city superintendent of schools, who spoke briefly welcoming the teachers back to duty. Members of the board of education also were introduced to the teachers.

An excellent musical program was presented during the morning and prior to the address by Kersey.

DISABLED VETS TO ENTERTAIN V. F. W., S. W. V.

Members of posts and auxiliaries of the Ernest Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Calumet Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, will be entertained as guests of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at a meeting Wednesday night at 8 p. m. in Getty Hall, 619 East Fourth street, it is announced today.

Senior Vice Commander Van Leonard Brown said that Commander Harry S. Pickard probably will be back from his vacation in time to occupy the commander's chair at the session.

Reports of the pension regulations and of the legislative matters of current interest to veterans will be made at the meeting.

Memorial mass for Sister Mary Elizabeth Eummelen, who died yesterday in Joliet, Illinois, will be held tomorrow at 7:30 a. m. in St. Joseph's Catholic church.

The deceased, well-known in Santa Ana and sister of the late Father Henry Eummelen, for many years pastor of the Santa Ana church, died at an advanced age and has been in the Order of St. Francis for 52 years in Illinois. She came to the United States from Holland when a little girl and had visited many times in Santa Ana. Her latest trip west was in January to attend funeral services for her brother.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. John Rudolph, Santa Ana, Mrs. Grace Young, Orange, Mrs. Mary Weidenhoff, San Diego; and one brother, Anton Eummelen, San Diego.

MARY EUMMELEN DIES IN ILLINOIS

ARREST THREE FOR DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Six men were hooked at the county jail over the week end for violation of the liquor laws, including three for drunk driving and three for drunkenness.

Frank Vega, 32, West Fifth street, was arrested by California Highway Patrolmen George Stinson and Ray Bradford yesterday afternoon after Vega's car had collided with another machine at Seventeenth and Verano roads and injured two persons. He was charged with drunk driving.

Alverado Contreras, 42, 309 South Artesia street, charged with drunk driving and Martin Contreras, 40, of the same address, charged with drunkenness, were arrested last night at Ninth and Main streets following a wreck. No one was hurt when the Contreras machine turned in front of a car driven by Mrs. M. E. Stout, San Bernardino, and was badly damaged in the resulting collision. The arrests were made by Captain Jess Buckles and Patrolman Harry Prichard.

Vincent Heffner, 21, Orange, booked for drunk driving last night by Officers Homer Davis and James Johnson, appeared before Judge A. W. Swayze in Orange this morning and was fined $25 and had his driver's license suspended for 30 days on reckless driving charges.

E. L. Geck, 42, 313 English street and B. Garcia, 39, 1013 West Fifth street, were arrested early Sunday morning for drunkenness on West Fifth street by Officers A. L. Steward and Joe Murillo.

SANDOW LEAVES FOR FOLSOM PRISON

John Sandow, 37, held in the county jail since December 23, 1932, on four charges of burglary and one of trying to escape from a police officer, lost his appeal to higher courts last week and was transferred to Folsom prison Saturday to serve a sentence of from two to 20 years.

Sandow had a running gun fight with officers near the old city hall before being captured and had served previous jail terms. He was tried before Judge James Allen in February but was not taken to prison pending a decision on his appeal. He was taken to Folsom by Under Sheriff C. W. Riggle and Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston. Sandow formerly lived at 216 East Sixth street.

BULLETIN ON DEPOSITS AND FEES ISSUED

No student, because of inability to pay the fees in high school or junior college, will be denied the privileges of any courses to which he may be eligible, it was revealed today in a bulletin distributed at the high school.

The fees are charged despite protests of a group of parents, who declare such charges are illegal.

"The essential features are that school authorities will appreciate the cooperation of students both in high school and in junior college in the matter of fees and deposits," the bulletin stated, "but that no student, because of inability to pay the fees applicable thereto, will be denied the privileges of any courses to which he may be eligible."

"In the high school remission of these customary fees and deposits does not present a very great difficulty unless widely extended. In the junior college the attempt will be made to make it possible for those who are unable to meet these items to earn the funds through work which may be made available."

It should be understood that the budgets for the operation of the junior college have already been set up and cannot now be increased to absorb fees or to furnish text books. It has been calculated that such absorption by the school at this time would

Preparations are being completed today for staging a fiesta in Santa Ana celebrating Mexican Independence day following a big benefit dance to raise funds for the program. The dance was held Saturday night, in a South Main street dance hall.

Mexican Independence day is on September 16, but both Friday and Saturday will be spent in celebration, according to Lucia Lucio, deputy Mexican consul for Orange county.

Friday night at 8 o'clock an elaborate program of entertainment, music, dancing and other features will be presented in the high school auditorium. Saturday at 10 a. m. a parade will be staged on Fourth street, starting at the depot at East Fourth and turning down Birch street to Birch park, where another program will be staged, including addresses and entertainment.

Maria Gallardo of El Modena was elected queen of the fiesta at the dance Saturday night. Other close contestants were Elvira Solis of Santa Ana, Rita Murieta of Glorietta, Aura Alva of Stanton, Catalina Torrez of Garden Grove and Feleccas Alcantar of Orange. The queen will reign at both fiesta programs.

A total of $700 was raised in various events in the county, including the queen contest, for staging the celebration, according to Lucia. Excitement ran high at the dance Saturday night when $200 worth of votes were sold in five minutes.

The celebration committee includes Ricardo Placentia, H. Cordas, M. Carrera, F. Armandaris and J. Lopez.

CARNERA-BAER BOUT IN JUNE DISCUSSED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.(UP)—Primo Carnera and Maxie Baer have discussed plans for staging a heavyweight title fight as early as next June.

Bill Duffy, the champion's manager, disclosed before leaving for the East that plans for a championship match were discussed last week when Carnera was picking up $45,000 in motion picture work here. Baer too is boxing before the movie cameras.

"As a result of our negotiations," Duffy said, "a match will most likely be staged soon. I'm not in a position as yet to make a definite statement but I can safely say that a fight as early as next June is entirely possible."

Duffy left with Carnera and the latter's Italian manager, Louis Soledad for New York. Carnera will proceed immediately to Bridgeport, Conn., where he meets Paolino Uzcudun Oct. 12. Duffy said.

CELEBRATE JOINT BIRTHDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Miller, below, of Anaheim, who celebrate their birthdays on the same date, will be hosts tonight to members of Calumpit Camp, Spanish American War Veterans, of which Miller is past commander, in honor of the event. —Photo by Rundell.

ANAHEIM HUSBAND AND WIFE HAVE BIRTHDAYS ON SAME DATE; CELEBRATE TONIGHT

September 11 is a date particularly significant to both Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Miller of 420 North Lemon street, Anaheim, for it is on this date that they both celebrate their birthday, the occasion this year being celebrated by their being hosts to members of Calumpit Camp, Spanish American War Veterans and their wives.

Miller is a past commander of the camp, having served as its commander in its third year of organization. In accordance with tradition, members of the camp are to present a smoking jacket to the past commander on his birthday.

But there is a tradition that this year will not be observed much to the regret of both Mr. and Mrs. Miller. For years they have had a "dove dinner" on their birthday, Miller making a "dove shooting" expedition just before the anniversary. But owing to the large crowd that will be entertained this year, the dinner must be abandoned.

Having been married for 23 years Mrs. Miller recalls that the first time they celebrated their birthdays together was a month before their marriage in 1910. Mrs. Miller will be 51 years old while Mr. Miller is six years her senior.

"Which reminds me—" says Mrs. Miller as she explains that there is another date of equal importance in their lives—the date being October 5, their wedding anniversary and also the birthday of their daughter, Mrs. L. E. Roseberry who lives with them.

She might well say again "which reminds me—" for Mr. and Mrs. Miller are in possession of a new granddaughter, Ruth Darline, who was born last week to Mrs. Roseberry. The new granddaughter weighs six pounds, 14 1/2 ounces.

Row Boat From Catalina To Laguna Beach

Donald (Windy) Brown, Tustin High school football player and Laguna Beach life guard, and James Smith, of Pasadena, decided that they needed some exercise, with the result that they rowed a boat from Catalina Island to Laguna Beach in eight hours and 24 minutes.

The boys left Laguna at 2 o'clock Thursday, using an outboard motor attached to Smith's 12-foot boat, the trip requiring eight hours and 45 minutes due to the fact they got lost in a fog and went off their course 10 miles.

They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Giddings, formerly of Laguna, while on the island.

FOUR ROOMS AT H. S. CLOSED AS SAFETY STEP

Because of weaknesses revealed in inspection of the high school to ascertain the extent of earthquake damage, four rooms in the west wing have been ordered closed by the board of education.

The closing of the four rooms was ordered to assure safety of all students pending completion of the state inspection of the high school group of buildings, school officials said today. Inspection of the high school and elementary buildings damaged in the earthquake of last March was authorized several weeks ago by the board of education.

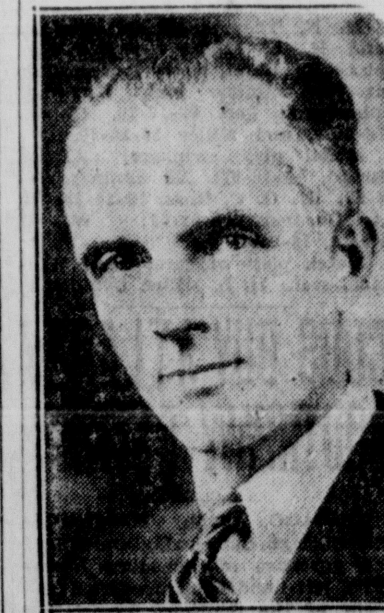

The inspection is being done under supervision of the state architect. The actual work is in charge of Inspector Morris. He has been at work on the high school group for the past six weeks and has almost completed his report.

Report of the weaknesses in the four rooms closed was submitted to the school board by State Architect McDougal in reply to a request from the board. The board had asked the state office to notify them of weaknesses as soon as they were found.

The rooms closed were on the south side of the west wing of the building. Two of the rooms were on the main floor and the other two directly over them on the second floor. According to George Newcomb, business manager for the board of education the rooms were constructed several years after the original building was completed, making what is called by architects a "cold joint." Such joints were fractured during the earthquake.

Newcomb said that the inspector did not condemn the building nor was it ordered closed by the state architect. The action was voluntary on the part of the board pending completion of the inspector's report.

Upon submission of the report, plans for strengthening damaged buildings will be discussed.

NEW LEADER OF SALVATIONISTS SPEAKER HERE

Keeping the Salvation Army on a business basis, but never forgetting its humanitarian purposes, and the heart that should go with its work, that, according to Brigadier Arthur D. Jackson, head of the Army in the Southland, in his address yesterday before officers and soldiers of the organization in Santa Ana, is the task of the forward-looking leader. Jackson is often called "the Will Rogers of the Salvation Army."

Seven league boots are needed to keep this official on the road. It was suggested. He left this morning early to make a talk before the breakfast meeting of the advisory board of the Compton Salvation Army. From there he had to motor to San Bernardino, where he addressed the advisory board of that city at noon. Then back to Redondo Beach, with the retired officers for the evening program.

"Nothing can ever replace the work the Salvation Army is striving to do among the people who need its ministrations," the brigadier declared. "It was this urge that sent William and Catherine Booth into the East End of London. It sent Booth Tucker to India, where he became to all intents and purposes an East Indian, wearing the native clothes, and saving the souls of the Indians by the old power of Jesus, who was given that name because 'He would have His people from their sins.'

"And yet it is not to the down-and-out alone that the Salvation Army appeals. Its message goes out over the ether from widely scattered stations, and in their homes men and women hear the same old message that is heard on the street corner, the message of the Christ and the cross."

Christian Science

"Substance" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text was from the Psalms: "Thy name, O Lord, endureth for ever; and thy memorial, O Lord, throughout all generations."

The words of James, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning," were among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon. And there were words written by Paul to the Romans: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen."

Statements of Mary Baker Eddy were cited also, from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and included the passage, "spirit, the synonym of mind, soul or God, is the only real substance."

HOLD REVIVAL AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

Announcement of an evangelistic campaign starting tonight at the church of Christ, Broadway and Walnut was made today by James H. Sewell, minister. The program of special services will start at 7:30 o'clock each night for two weeks.

Before his entrance into the evangelistic field Wainwright was a railroad man following this with a career as an educator. He entered the evangelistic field about 15 years ago.

Sister congregations of the Church of Christ throughout Orange county and Southern California have pledged their support of the evangelistic effort it was said.

"Proud and glad to do our part"

WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program.

Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago!

At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 percent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months, Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect.

We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American.

We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.

COCKET MAKES PRO BOW SEPTEMBER 22
PARIS, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Henri Cockett, mainstay of French Davis Cup tennis teams for seven years, announced he had definitely turned professional and invited newspapermen to discuss plans with him today.

THE MAULER'S BACKGROUND
Here is a young man who needs fighting all the time. Tom Laird of San Francisco, canny judge of fighting men, calls Baer another Dempsey. Right—but he should have more of Dempsey's background, more of riding from town to town to do battle with anyone who happens to be in fighting mood or condition.

That was how Dempsey came up. Walking wind-swept streets through the dead of winter night waiting for his next fight. Hiding the rods across the country, stopping to bowl over whatever bump appeared. Hardship. Hunger.

All these were rolled together in the back of Dempsey's head that afternoon in Toledo. And these are the things Max Baer needs worse than anything else right now.

HUBBELL-WHITEHILL SERIES DUEL LOOMS

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UP)—As each succeeding day brings the New York Giants and Washington Senators closer to a world series, baseball fans look forward to the failure of such a meeting—a pitching duel between Carl Hubbell and Earl Whitehill.

Of course, there would be plenty of other pitching fireworks in such a series, with the Giants possessing, in addition to Hubbell, such masters as Parmelee, Schumacher and Fitzsimmons, and the Senators boasting of Stewart, Russell and Crowder. In addition to Whitehill.

The big thrill, however, would be in a Hubbell-Whitehill clash. These two veterans stand out as the best southpaws in the majors this season, both having reached their peak at about the same time, and both backed with excellent support.

TORRANCE, OILERS BATTLE HERE Tro-Babes Approve Night Game

GRAVATH OKAYS SEPT. 23 DATE: DONS AT WORK

Santa Ana jayssee's first 1935 football game—to be played with the powerful freshman team of the University of Southern California—will be held at night under Municipal Bowl arc lights Friday, Sept. 23.

This was definitely announced today, following a conference here Saturday attended by "Jeff" Gravath, coach of the Tro-Babes.

Some doubt had been expressed that Southern California authorities would be willing to approve a nocturnal contest, but Gravath was authorized by Director of Athletics Bill Hunter to arrange the contest to suit himself.

His backfield material better than in previous years, Coach Bill Cook opened regular drill at jayssee today determined to stress offensive work in hopes of having a strong attack prepared for the freshmen next week.

Cook is convinced his backfield will be the class of the conference, but realizes he must secure additional linemen to give his ball packers necessary support.

Outside of Captain "Bono" Koral's regular berth at tackle, line positions are all wide open. With Ray Hoar and Bruce Handy, returning lettermen, and several newcomers competing for the pivot position, the situation at center could be worse, but additional guards, tackles and ends could be used. Less than 30 linemen have reported to date, and many of this group are light and inexperienced.

Already having issued 42 suits during the "Fresh Days" last week, Cook and Ed Adams, his new assistant, are of the opinion that Santa Ana's squad will contain at least 60 members through the early part of the season.

The coaching staff is hoping its next 18 or more recruits will be linemen.

"Porky" Bell, Ray Hapes, Bill McDaniel and Sam Tucker, quarterbacks; Jimmie Hall, Harry McIntire, Wilburn Anderson and Bob Phillips, halfbacks; Harold Welty, Bill Boudin and Earle Horton, fullbacks, are being counted on to furnish Santa Ana with perhaps its best backfield in history.

On Thursday, dapper little Henri insisted he would play in professional tournaments without losing his amateur status because he would turn his share of the proceeds over to charity.

However, Pierre Gillou, president of the federation, insisted just as vehemently that Cockett would forfeit his amateur standing automatically just as soon as he played in a professional tournament.

Cockett will make his professional debut in Paris, September 22, when he and Martin Flana, another French professional, meet Bill Tilden and Bruce Barnes of the United States.

Somerville, Munger Lead U.S. Amateur

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 11.—(UP)—By sinking a 30-foot putt on the 18th green, Ross Somerville, London, Ont., defending champion, tied Jack Munger, 18-year-old Dallas, Tex., boy for the temporary lead at the end of 18 holes in the 36-hole qualifying round of the National Amateur golf championship today. Each had a 70, one under par.

Two strokes behind Munger and Somerville came a group of 72s which included Gus Moreland, Dallas, Tex., Trans-Mississippi champion; Pat Sawyer, 190-pound U. of Minnesota junior from Minneapolis; Don Edwards, San Jose, Cal., and Johnny Fischer, Fort Thomas, Ky., Big Ten champion.

HUSKIES' LINE CAUSES PHELAN MUCH CONCERN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Following is the sixth story of a series dealing with 1935 coast college football teams.

By JAMES S. SHEEHY

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 11.—(UP)—There appears to be a vital weakness in the center of the 1935 Washington line and if there is you may be sure it will be found by the time Oregon tears into the Huskies at Seattle, Oct. 14.

Howard and Finn, first string centers, are gone as are Captain Bill O'Brien and Frank Windust, guards. Filling the vital posts will be major tasks of Coach Jimmie Phelan, whose team threatened to take Southern California in Seattle last fall.

Hurley Deroin, powerfully-built but erratic player, whose temper gets the better of him, is the center center expectancy. He may become a terror; he may be a bust. Boyle, 1933 reserve, is a possibility.

Isaacson May Play Center
If Ullin beats out 265-pound Ted Isaacson at tackle, Phelan may move Isaacson to center. He was sometimes but fair at tackle last year.

England, Mucha and Lorentzen are likely guards. England is brittle and Lorentzen has yet to show that he's real timber. Mucha is okay.

Ullin may become a real tackle to find the fighting Joe Windust, talkative, tackling publisher. Bill Smith was one of the best ends on the coast last year and should be the class of the performers this season. Watch this boy on end-around plays, after a double reverse. Mucynski to Sukosky! He is the fastest man on the squad and can out-run most pass defenders.

Lazarovich should become a good end but appears to lack a bit of drive. "Trig" Hanson and Sophomore Markov are reserves.

Hornbeak 'If' of Backfield
Another "if" in the Washington lineup is Quarterback Jay Hornbeak of Corsicana, Tex. What will he do under fire? What reserve material will be developed? Can Hornbeak out-smart the opposition?

The rest of the backfield is strong. Halfbacks Art Ahonen and Mat Mucynski are outstanding as runners, kickers and passers. Ahonen raced rings around U. C. L. A. last year and don't forget catapulting Paul Sukosky, Puysallup, Wash., fullback!

Clay Hanson, Sullivan and Smalling are backfield reserves. The Huskies open against the flashy Gonzaga team here, Sept. 23, and follows against Idaho the next Saturday. The Oregon test at Seattle comes Oct. 14. College of Puget Sound follows with Stanford playing in Seattle, Oct. 28. Then California at Berkeley.

Armistead Day, U. C. L. A. here and Washington State at Pullman with a final contest against U. S. C. at Los Angeles, Dec. 9.

AMERICAN NET DECLINE BARED BY PERRY WIN

BY STUART CAMERON
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The United States passed out of the world tennis picture over the week end. After a disastrous European season, American players were shut out of their own national championship, by Frederick J. Perry of England, who also blasted America's Davis Cup hopes at Paris.

To the Americans, it mattered little who won yesterday's final at Forest Hills. It was an all-foreign final for the second time in the championships' 52-year history, between Perry and Jack Crawford of Australia. Crawford was favored because of triumphs in the French, Wimbledon and Australian championships.

When Perry defeated Crawford in five sets, 6-3, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1, it was a great triumph for British tennis enthusiasts, following Britain's Davis Cup victory this year. It was the first time an Englishman won the United States title since 1903 when Hugh Dougherty lifted the cup.

But Saturday's American debacle was more important for United States tennis fans and for officials of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association. Perry routed Lester Stiefen of Los Angeles and Crawford eliminated Francis X. Shields of New York.

These defeats impressed experts with the fact—if the American brand of tennis is slipping.

The U. S. L. T. A. Davis Cup selection committee is faced with one of the bleakest outlooks since the trophy was put into competition.

When Crawford and Perry retired for tea at the end of three sets yesterday, the Australian was leading two sets to one, and 10-6. Spectators were confident that he would win. But, in the fourth set, Perry abandoned his cautious earlier play and struck out with all his power. This hurled Crawford back on the defensive and Perry sprayed his baseline with steaming forcing shots, both backhand and forehand and raked the courts with unreturnable volleys.

$150,000 GATE FOR CANZONERI, ROSS GO

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(IN)—Excited over the prospect of a former world's lightweight champion making ring history by winning back his title, boxing fans started a last-minute rush today to obtain seats for tomorrow night's 15-round bout between Barney Ross of Chicago and Tony Canzoneri, New York Italian.

A gate of $150,000 was expected by Promoter Tim O'Mara.

Mississippi Gets Hapes, Huge Tackle

Clarence ("Big Moose") Hapes, 245-pound Garden Grove giant, was en route today to Oxford, Miss., to enroll at the University of Mississippi.

A towering tackle, Hapes is expected to be a tremendous addition to the line which Coaches Ed Walker and "Chuck" Smalling, one-time Stanford players, are building at Mississippi.

Hapes had been reported as headed for "Pop" Warner's Temple university team, but changed his mind recently and decided Saturday to cast his lot at Mississippi. The big fellow just completed a night baseball season as catcher for the Westminster club.

Match play winners: C. W. Wallace, even; H. L. Miller, two down.

SABELLA, NEVA SCHEDULED FOR MOUND DUTIES

Santa Ana's Municipal Bowl will be the battleground tonight for Huntington Beach and Torrance, the principals of the National Night Ball league's 1935 championship series. Game-time is 8:15, with no seats reserved.

Torrance is leading by the margin of two games to one, and can virtually clinch the title by winning here. On the other hand, a Huntington Beach victory would square the series and send the Oilers back home Wednesday with the odds again in their favor.

So far, the Torrance-Huntington Beach games have been packed with drama, and just enough good and bad baseball to produce many unexpected situations. Observers have compared it with the celebrated 1921 series between Santa Ana and Anaheim which went the full distance of seven games before the Stars won with a belated rally in the final contest.

Huntington Beach was installed as a heavy favorite at the outset and ran true to form in the first game by mowing down "Spud" Murphy's first-half champions in order, 6-2. The Oilers fielded brilliantly that night, but their defensive deficiencies have been numerous since. A 7-5 beating at Huntington Beach in the game last Friday, which gave Torrance an edge in the playoff, was directly traceable to errors. "Chico" Sabella has had a slight edge over Louie Neva in pitching, and this superiority leads critics to the opinion that Huntington Beach still can win if it recovers its equilibrium.

Sabella is sure to pitch for Huntington Beach tonight but Manager Murphy is contemplating the use of Roy (Pete) Hargis, his No. 2 gunner, in order to give Neva a much needed rest. Neva has been fighting off appendicitis for two weeks, according to reports.

The Huntington Beach lineup will be at full strength, with Francis Conrad replacing Clarence Clemens at second base. Torrance is all set too, for Neva will play left field if he doesn't pitch.

Attendance at earlier series games have been none too good compared with other years, but business should pick up in Santa Ana with the clubs draying not only their own loyal fans but also many fans from Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange, Olive, Westminster and other nearby communities.

The spacious Bowl, with its 4500 or more seats, affords all comers choice locations, whereas at Torrance and Huntington Beach the capacity is limited to about 1500.

Turfing operations at the Bowl leave the Bowl in comparatively poor condition for baseball, but the infield is in good shape and the outfielders may be able to dodge the bumps.

Torrance, the "home team," will seat its fans back of first base. Huntington Beach followers will congregate in the stands behind third base.

TROJANS' SCHEDULE LISTS 12 OPPONENTS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—University of Southern California's 12-game football schedule for the coming season includes games with its six principal Pacific Coast conference rivals, two inter-sectional contests, two meetings with strong non-conference opponents and a national doubleheader that is billed as the only "breather" on the program.

Notre Dame for the eighth straight year will be the Trojans' chief inter-sectional rival. The other inter-sectional opponent will be Georgia, one of the strongest teams in the South.

Conference competition calls for games with Stanford, California, Washington, Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State. St. Mary's, the last team to defeat the Trojans, and Loyola, which held St. C. to a bare 6 to 9 win last season, are the formidable non-conference rivals of the Coast.

The opening doubleheader with Whittier and Occidental, Southern California conference eleventh, is set for a week after the opening of practice and is down as the only "breather."

The Trojan schedule:
Sept. 23.—Whittier and Occidental, doubleheader.
Sept. 30.—Loyola.
Oct. 7.—Washington State.
Oct. 14.—St. Mary's.
Oct. 21.—Oregon State at Portland.
Oct. 28.—California at Berkeley.
Nov. 11.—Stanford.
Nov. 18.—Oregon.
Nov. 25.—Notre Dame at South Bend.
Dec. 2.—Georgia.
Dec. 9.—Washington.

All conditions are ideal for the great Dodge-Plymouth baseball series. Improved business conditions which are daily releasing pent-up buying power, are providing the sunshine and cooling breezes, for the series. National recovery legislation, federal, state and municipal

The great Dodge and Plymouth baseball series is not an ordinary ball game. However, it is a real championship battle. Weak hitters, slow runners, poor batters have been benched. The six members of the team, comprising the L. D. Coff-

SAYS HELPFUL ATTITUDE NEED IN WORLD TODAY

FULLERTON, Sept. 11.—The world, viewed from castle windows, was discussed by the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman of Fullerton Methodist church last night, when he likened the individual to a castle, whence he could see the world.

He took as his text for the sermon verses from the sixth chapter of St. Luke, and said the teachings of Christ are to the effect that we cannot disregard the prosperity of the whole world.

"The old question, 'Am I my brother's keeper?' cannot be disregarded," he said. "In looking from castle windows we see the whole world in need. President Hoover said, 'The economic prosperity of the whole world is first,' recognizing thus the dependency of the parts of the world on the whole world."

"Shall we, looking eastward, and seeing Europe, see a need, and be willing to give a lift; most of the methods of so called helping appeal to the selfishness and not to the spiritual of the human," he said, citing as example the present unemployed peoples of the world, who are made so through selfishness of people. In London, England, alone, he said, there are 400,000 more unemployed than there were four years ago.

He touched on Germany, and the tendency to challenge the world again and urged that all seek some way out on a solution of a world problem, and suggested that that solution is found in the merciful, sharing and truth-seeking Christ.

Problems arise in China, in Japan, and in the Philippines, he said, and suggested again that we maintain a helpful and not narrow national attitude.

As to the living room of the castle, he suggested that there the answer is in unselfish thoughtfulness of others as a solution of the problem of staying near God.

JOY OF SHARING CITED IN TALK BY DR. HUNTER

FULLERTON, Sept. 11.—The joy of unselfish sharing is the secret of the life of radiance, Dr. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Fullerton Presbyterian church, said yesterday morning at the morning hour of worship at his church.

He took as his text for his sermon, the last part of verse two, chapter 12, of Hebrews, "Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith: who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God."

He pointed out that the joy of suffering and of discipline are found in the unselfishness of Christ, and that in following Him, and in surrendering lives to such service, the problems of the world will be solved in the three ways noted, that of surrender being first, the pastor said the next joyful step is to become dislodged from the fear of what others think, in service for Christ, and the third is to care only for "what Christ thinks."

"The yielded discordant strains of life are released, and liberated, by making a full surrender to Christ," Dr. Hunter said. "It sounds like a paradox, that to be free we must be captive, but it is true. In unselfish sharing, accomplished along the lines that Christ leads, we not only have the joy of life, but we have the joy of preserving things of culture."

In touching on the NRA, Dr. Hunter said it is an effort to bring about conciliation between capitol and labor, and that in many lines real and lasting good have come about. He suggested child labor abolishment as one of these good points.

The pastor warned that unless American people use the NRA plan properly it shares with Germany, the danger of becoming narrowly nationalistic, and of becoming a dictatorship government.

The college and high school young people of the Presbyterian church spent Saturday and Sunday at the beach, in conference work. The membership of the church joined them in the afternoon yesterday, and held services there at night.

Olson directed the song service and Mrs. Olson presided at the piano. The Rev. Walter A. Staub and family were visitors at the meeting, and Rev. Mr. Staub spoke by request, giving an address from I Timothy 3:16, coupled up with a portion of 2 Thessalonians, chapter 2. At the night service Evangelist Miller spoke on the subject, "Why I Am a Christian."

AUTOMOTIVE MEN DISCUSS CODE OF NRA

Expressing California's stand on false advertising, secret rebates and other unfair tactics in business; and criticizing women for purchasing bargains, respectively, Charles Carr, Los Angeles attorney; and A. A. Butterworth, owner of Keystone publications, in Los Angeles, delivered NRA addresses for the Orange County Automotive Trades association meeting in the Frances Willard Junior High school auditorium Friday night. Men and women from all parts of the county were present.

A brief historical background of the NRA, followed by an explanation of the legal phase of the program, was given by Carr, an associate of Pierson Gill, United States district attorney of the district; while Butterworth, Los Angeles publisher of seven automotive magazines, presented a more general talk on the NRA in which he stated that the constitution has not been changed under the new act.

"The NRA is based on public opinion, and the legal aspect is not worth 10 cents unless the people back the program," Carr said in beginning. Under the NRA men and women have the right to organize, and "it is being assumed that 90 per cent of the workers will go into organizations, with the 10 per cent to be dealt with legally if necessary."

No Change
Butterworth, publisher whose voice has been heard over the radio as master of ceremonies of Gilmore oil company programs, opened his speech with a strong denial that the United States constitution has been changed under the NRA. "Some lawyers have pointed out that the NRA is unconstitutional, but when the judges of the supreme court view the National Recovery Act I believe they will interpret it just as the people now want them to." The constitution never has given persons the right to cheat, to offer rebates, or to cut each other's throats, Butterworth said.

The speaker criticized women of the country for continually seeking bargains. "You don't save when you buy a bargain," he explained. Long hours and meager wages of employees make it possible for firms to sell bargains, and by purchasing them, women are only encouraging such factory methods, according to Butterworth.

The speaker also discussed inflation, which he believes will lead to a direct development of business conditions. "The president has the right to devalue gold up to 50 per cent, and when it is seen that the head executive plans inflation, the man with $1,000,000 will buy merchandise, property, etc., before his wealth decreases to $500,000 in money. This will mean a general upturn in business, he pointed out.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

SHOTGUNS
The palpitation is very faint so far but there seems to be an anti-Farley movement in the making. Air rifles are popping at the Postmaster General-National Chairman with something more than a hint there may be shotguns in the offing.

Friends of Big Jim have felt the breeze of the first sniping. So have newspaper men in whose laps some most insidious stories have been planted.

As yet it is rather hard to detect the source of the shooting. A lot of it bears evidence of New York City origin.

Subterranean rumors have shaken under Washington newspaper men that Farley is slipping. Some of them have even erupted into print.

For some time of course there have been complaints from Senators and Congressmen that Farley wasn't cutting the pie fast enough. Ten members of the upper house started a round robin to the President in protest.

The latest warfare has more of a guerrilla nature.

AL
Could it be that Al Smith has not forgotten the wounds of the Chicago convention? Is it possible Tammany—plus its hidden banker support—is still smarting from a forced retreat? Are the anti-Roosevelt forces in New England active again? Does the N. Y. City majority fight figure in?

Answers to these questions might solve the riddle and then again maybe not.

The pressure has been turned on to dim the Farley star. That seems to be the only safe answer.

JAMES
The name of James Roosevelt, oldest son of the President, has been brought into the picture. Stories are out that he is handling New England patronage to the exclusion of Farley. And with the connivance of Democratic state leaders.

This is not overly pleasing to the White House. The younger Roosevelt campaigned vigorously for his dad in New England States. Where Federal job holders ran into Smith sentiment James stepped in with the deciding vote.

Farley, so far as can be learned here, was more than willing. It took a big load off his shoulders. The Postmaster General's friends are watching the situation closely. They probably will turn up with an antidote.

HENRY
Henry Ford must be chuckling in his sleeve over his tiff with the Blue Eagle.

For a month and without taking a dime out of his pocket the flivver king has kept his name on the front page of every paper in the United States.

Quite a break for a man prepared to spend millions of dollars for paid advertising.

Best of all, Ford has had as runningmates in his miles of free publicity the names of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Hugh Johnson. Clipping services tell you the last two have got more newspaper space in a given length of time than any gentlemen of history.

With it all his product doesn't seem to have suffered overly.

NOTES

Another organization of old-time friends has been added to President Roosevelt's social calendar. They are known as the "Four Horsemen" and include the four newspaper reporters who traveled with Mr. Roosevelt on regular trains back in the days he was after the Presidential nomination.

Calling the roll they are Ernest Lindley, of the New York Herald-Tribune, who is an official biographer; Louis Ruppel, formerly of the New York Daily News, now Deputy Commissioner of Narcotics; Walter Brown, of the Albany Associated Press office, and Jim Kieran, of the New York Times. Captain Herman Gray, who conducts the great and near-deep-sea fishing all along the Atlantic Coast, plays no political favorites. He took President Hoover out of Long Key, Fla., in 1930, and turned up last week of Montauk Point, L. I., to do the same for President Roosevelt.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

PHILOSOPHY
As New York sees it there are three separate classes of philosophy among NRA supporters in and out of government circles. They may make a lot of difference.

1. Speed. Some want to push NRA as rapidly as possible regardless of methods used. Others prefer safe and sound ways—letting natural forces do as much of the work as possible—with slower results.

2. Permanence. Some see it as an emergency measure only, to be discarded when the crisis is past. Others want it to become the foundation for a permanent reorganization of industry along new deal lines.

3. Purpose. Some think it will bring immense economic benefits. Others construe it as primarily a social measure to be administered as such.

In spite of the obvious pressure for fast action most informed New Yorkers believe actual advances will be slow if only because of the multitude of problems still to be solved. They believe the Act will be administered with a view to making it the foundation for a permanent change. All will depend on the Congress elected in 1934. They also think it will achieve maximum success if its possible economic gains—as the social benefits will be easier to demonstrate.

SHAKEUP
Local sources with an ear to the ground hear that a wholesale shakeup in NRA personnel is on the way. As this column pointed out several weeks ago some of those invited to serve as Deputy Administrators were known to be out of sympathy with fundamental NRA objectives. Some have been converted, some have not. The latter will be replaced in the interest of a strong pull and a pull all together.

GRAIN
Strong pressure is developing on the inside to abolish the limitation on daily grain price fluctuations. The speculative element behind it wants more action for its money. Their selling argument is that the artificial restrictions now imposed give rise to fears of a further price slump which are no longer justified. A free market, they say, would stimulate recovery sentiment. They may possibly get their way if agricultural authorities think the outlook is sufficiently bullish to add impetus to the upward drive.

LEGION
National Commander Louis Johnson is campaigning among American Legion posts in an effort to carry the day for the Administration's economy program at the Legion convention. He has a slim chance of heading off Legion wishes.

John Thomas Taylor—the Legion's skilled lobbyist—is helping Commander Johnson under orders. It must seem strange to Taylor after the years he has spent fighting for bigger and better veterans' appropriations. He is an appointive officer subject to removal by the Commander, which may account for his personal new deal.

The Legion's next national commander will probably be Ted Hayes of Chicago, Johnson's candidate, who is scheduled for defeat, will probably be Ray Murphy of Iowa.

RACKET
This column recently reported that Hitler could well afford to donate his salary as chancellor to charity. A thoroughly reliable source in Germany now supplies authentic figures which give a good idea of Hitler's enormous private income.

German government officials alone bought—voluntarily, of course!—over 400,000 copies of his book and government offices down to the last village fire department another 100,000 copies. The book costs 8 marks and Hitler's royalties are 15 per cent of the sales price. This means that from one group of buyers of his book Hitler has received 600,000 marks or about $190,000 for the first seven months of the current year.

HARMONY
There is one place in America where German Nazis live in happy harmony with radicals, socialists and Jews. Hard to believe? You can see for yourself at the Out-of-Door Club nudist colony at Highland, New York.

BRITAIN
Rumors that Britain's equalization fund is exhausted because the pound has been permitted to slip further in terms of gold are untrue. One reason fluctuations have been permitted is because British politicians have gained the upper hand. Another reason is to chase out the exchange speculators. They prefer to deal in a currency which is kept within narrow limits because it minimizes their risks.

But John Bull still has a tidy sum up his sleeve to play with in case it is needed.

SIDELIGHTS
An agricultural administrator's lot is not a happy one. Southern farmers are raising fodder on their de-cottoned land. That means they will buy less feed from mid-western farmers. The mid-west will be heard from shortly. They say the V. F. W. isn't at all displeased with Huey Long's black-eyed publicity.

SOUTH SEAS LURE TRIO

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., (UP)—Lured by desire to pen novels of the South Seas, two men, a woman and a cat named Maxie Baer, are on the high seas out of this port, bound for Tahiti. Despite veteran seamen's warning "old dabbler" is soon to be at his winter's worst, the quartet sailed in a 27-foot lifeboat, cheeks and fur glowing with adventure.

"CONTROL" IS WORD OF HOUR. AVERS PASTOR

"The word of the hour though somewhat hidden for the moment under other words is still operative and still very potent. It is the word control," said Harry Evan Owings yesterday morning at the First Baptist church. "This word underlies the National Recovery Act, the currency regulation, and all phases of the sweeping program of economic recovery and rehabilitation launched by the government. The government is avowedly and of necessity in these times engaged in and committed to a policy of control for certain vast areas of our social and economic life."

"The problem of control is always with us. It is one of our most significant and troublesome problems. For wherever you find power you find the need of control. Nature has its tremendously powerful forces but they must be controlled if they are to bring benefit consistently to mankind. The indispensable factor in a machine age is the provision for the control of the power resident in each machine. And the control of the human power is the most troublesome of all the control of the mind and emotions, the impulses and appetites, the regulation of financial power and political power to insure the social welfare. For wherever you find wilfulness, impulsiveness, temper, greed and unrestrained selfishness, animosities and hatreds there you find human power out of control. That lack of control is at the root of the major problems of the nation and the world."

"For this reason we see Jesus stressing the necessity of self-control and exalting it to a very high place among the virtues. It is a trait much to be desired and worthy of a struggle to achieve. He declares that anger in one's heart must be carefully controlled. The sex drive must likewise be held in leash. The impulse to lord it over men must be regulated and in fact is to be so bent that the energy is to be used to lift folk and to serve them."

"Paul, the great interpreter of the Christian religion, likewise places it prominently among the

This Dog Takes His Food From Paper Bag

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 11.—(UP)—There's nothing like knowing what you want. Take Ted, 8-year-old Russian wolfhound belonging to W. B. Albertson, superintendent of a state prison road camp.

For a long time Ted has seen the prison road workers receive their lunches in paper bags, open them and eat their food. The method apparently was deeply impressed on the dog's mind.

A plate of food placed before Ted doesn't mean a thing. But bring him something in a paper sack and he trots contentedly away to eat whatever is in the bag.

ARRESTS OWN LANDLORD

LEOMINSTER, Mass., (UP)—Motorcycle Officer Raymond J. Matthews has a new home address since he arrested Luigi Altobelli for stealing coal from the yards of Mayor Frederick T. Platt. It seems that Altobelli was Matthews' landlord, and immediately after Altobelli had paid a $25 fine for coal-stealing, he ordered the policeman to vacate.

REO ANNOUNCES NEW REDUCTION IN COST

The Reo Motor Car company announces an important reduction in prices upon its line of Flying Cloud sedans and coupes, according to information received by W. W. Woods, local Reo dealer.

"This price reduction is a very substantial one, bringing the factory price down to as low as $795," states Mr. Woods. "This applies to the newest, most recent models, those shipped from the factory since August 1, and reflects not the slightest departure from the well-known Reo standards of quality."

"Since the introduction of the exclusive Reo self-shifting device which does away with the shift lever and attendant annoyances, there has been a steady increase in volume of sales throughout the country, which has made it possible for the factory to produce with greater economy. This saving they have passed on for the benefit of the public, so that now all who have wanted one of these fine cars will find it well within the limits of their purse."

"The installation of the self-shifting device costs but a few dollars more so that the full price including this sensational development is well below any price at which Flying Clouds have ever been offered."

TUBERCULOSIS DEATHS FEWER, REPORTS SHOW

A continued decline in the incidence of tuberculosis was reported yesterday at a meeting of officers and directors of the California Tuberculosis association at the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, which was attended by A. J. Cruickshank, Santa Ana, treasurer of the state organization.

The federation is an organization of all city and county tuberculosis associations in the state. Reports for the first six months of the current year indicated a death rate of 77 per 100,000, it was reported, against last year's record low of 80 deaths per 100,000 population. Twenty years ago the death rate was 212.

Officers reported also that the organization is operating well within its budget. Plans were considered for the annual sale of Christmas seals, which will begin Thanksgiving day.

Whitten was released after paying $250 bail and Giesler by paying $25 bail. Both were ordered to appear before Police Judge J. G. Mitchell at 10 a. m. on September 12.

L. Adrian McClain, 39, 1336 Grand avenue, posted $250 bail last night to secure his release from the county jail on a drunk driving charge. He was arrested by Officers A. L. Steward and Joe Murillo at Fifth and Sycamore streets and was ordered to appear in police court at 2 p. m. on September 12.

Carl Wiley, 31, Santa Ana mechanic, was arrested for intoxication and booked at the county jail last night when he created a disturbance near 312 North Main street.

POPE REFUSES TO RATIFY PEACE PACT

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The pope's refusal to ratify the German-Vatican treaty until Chancellor Adolf Hitler modifies his policies was confirmed semi-officially today.

A Vatican spokesman said that on account of the imminent departure on a visit of Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, confidential conversations would be suspended and ratification of the treaty would be delayed.

Pacelli will be absent for about a month, and it is hoped by the Vatican that meantime Hitler may have modified his general policies and particularly his attitude toward the treaty.

It has been reported that the pope was displeased with Hitler's general religious policy and with his policy toward Catholics.

His Freedom Was Short-Lived

Wrist and ankle manacles were clamped on Harvey Bailey, asserted brist in the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma oil man, following Bailey's escape from the Dallas county prison. He was caught four hours later, and is shown between officials who also are studying Bailey's possible leadership in a recent massacre of federal officers and prisoners at Kansas City.

WEDNESDAY UNLUCKY DAY FOR STRAWS; SEASON ENDS

Wearers of the pliant Panama, hard straw sailors and other forms of dressy straw hats are looking at their trusty chapeaux, kellys or lids and singing "Goodbye Forever."

In other words, the 13th will be unlucky for straws. According to prophetic snapbrims are expected to be the best selling models and they see more interest in upturned brims—Homburg edges with binding, or semi-homburgs with welt edges. Derbies (for those who have sufficient nerve to wear one) will have narrower brims than last season and a sort of squarish crown.

While gray and brown will be the leaders in color a revival of the soft black hat is also predicted.

CAPT. PAUL KOENIG CALLED BY DEATH

GNADAU, Germany, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Capt. Paul Koenig, former commander of the submarine Deutschland, that visited the United States during the war, died Saturday. He was 65.

Captain Paul Koenig, commander of one of the most famous submarines of the German navy, startled the world when, in 1916, he came to the surface in American waters, after a dramatic under-sea passage from Europe.

He had run a heavy British blockade, and upon occasion rested for hours on the bottom of the sea while the submarine's mechanical "ears" caught the sound of British propellers above him, and his own crew amused themselves by singing "We've Got Rings on Our Fingers and Bells on Our Toes."

Suspect May Face Second Charge

Romero Rodriguez, 23, 522 Fairlawn street, charged with drunkenness after being arrested Wednesday night, was committed to the county jail for 71-2 days Friday by Judge J. G. Mitchell when he failed to pay a $15 fine.

Santa Ana police obtained a confession from the defendant recently and learned that the 100 feet of garden hose found in his car at the time of his arrest came from Anaheim. He said he bought it for 50 cents from a man in a service station. Fred F. Mitchell, 705 South Los Angeles street, Anaheim, identified the hose this morning and a complain charging petty theft may be filed against Rodriguez by Anaheim authorities.

Queer Fruit Seen On Eastern Tree

WAYNESBORO, Pennsylvania.—(UP)—Mott Thompson viewed with pride the buds of what he had bought for a cherry tree.

But when the tree bore its first fruit Thompson was convinced that a sure-enough ghost of Luther Burbank had been dabbling in the miniature orchard in his back yard.

For the tree bore plums, with a cherry kernel.

The fruit came this year for the first time since he purchased the tree three years ago—was almost a perfect plum, but the seeds were the same size and shape as a cherry kernel. The leaves of the tree have the same markings as a sweet cherry tree.

BUSINESS MEN OPPOSE SALES TAX INCLUSION

Concurring with other associations of merchants and business men in California, action is being taken by the Business Men's Association of Santa Ana to oppose the inclusion of the state sales tax in the sale price of goods, according to a statement made today by Phil M. Brown, secretary-manager of the local association. Telegrams received by Brown from other associations pointed out that a grave crisis faces merchants of the state because the state board of equalization recommended the inclusion of the sales tax in the sale price.

The logical result of the inclusion of the sales tax in the sales price would be the absorption of the tax by merchants with the resulting loss of from one to two per cent on total sales, it was said.

A hearing is scheduled to be held before the board of equalization at the Senator Hotel, Sacramento, with prominent merchants of the state. H. P. Rankin, Santa Ana, was invited to attend the hearing but will be unable to do so because of illness.

Elmer Henry, Laguna Beach, charged with a statutory offense, was released on his own recognizance by Judge Kenneth Morrison yesterday.

Henry Steffen, Anaheim rancher, held in the county jail for drunk driving after an accident Thursday night, was released yesterday after posting $250 bail.

Engagement News Told At Party Honoring Visitor

When the Misses Alvera and Marie Heimiller entertained a group of friends at their home in Costa Mesa Friday evening, honoring their sister, Mrs. Harry Cowell of Port Huron, Mich., who is enjoining here for a time, they adapted the party for the proper time to announce the engagement of Miss Alvera Heimiller and C. P. Rhinard of Chicago, formerly of Los Angeles.

The Misses Heimiller are well known in Santa Ana, and several of their friends from this city were among the guests at the delightful event.

Autumn colors of orange and brown were used in the decorative scheme, including the long dining table where a two-course supper was served following an evening of games. Mrs. Floyd Pope, Mrs. E. Abbott, and Mrs. Robert Alexander were awarded contest prizes, and a fine traveling bag given the honored guest, Mrs. Cowell.

Centering the supper table was a large "mike" to which ribbon streamers were attached leading to the individual places where small "mikes" were set up to broadcast the coming nuptials of Miss Alvera and Mr. Rhinard on October 1.

The Misses Heimiller's guests included the following: Mrs. Cowell, Mrs. Carlton Rhinard, Mrs. Robert Alexander and Mrs. Elmer Abbott of Santa Ana; Mrs. Bessie Renner of Anaheim; Mrs. Floyd Pope of Wisconsin; Miss Ethel Stuart of Orange; Mrs. Jack Keating and Mrs. Helene Vardy of Costa Mesa, and the hostesses' mother, Mrs. George Heimiller.

Miss Alvera Heimiller is superintendent of Home Economics in Fremont school, Anaheim, is a member of the Home Economics association of Orange county, and last year was affiliated with the Anaheim Union High school.

Mr. Rhinard is general superintendent of the Columbia-Pacific Night Coach company, with headquarters in Chicago.

Pegasus Members Seek Poetic Expression Of Vacations

The shining fields of poetry exerted their fascination for members of Pegasus club when they met Thursday afternoon as guests of Mrs. Ray Brown, 922 South Rose street. For it seemed that the majority of contributions to the afternoon's program of original writings, took poetic expression.

Mrs. Charles C. Brisco had charge of the program, and had suggested "Vacations" as the theme upon which each Pegasus member should allow her fancy to soar. Mrs. Justus Birtcher was the first to respond, and with "Vacations Near Home" as her theme, read a graceful little poem.

Mrs. Earl Morris also sought the poetic form of her contribution which she titled "Today." Mrs. Walter Foote gave one of her humorous "poetic sketches" which members so much enjoy, calling it "The Tourist." There was a brief musical interlude when Little Miss Jeannette Brown, daughter of the home, sang very sweetly, "The Slumber Boat" with her mother as accompanist.

Positions were then reversed and Miss Jeannette played the piano for a solo, "Hold Thou My Hand," charmingly sung by Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Frank Was deviated from the afternoon plan with her amusing article, "Stay Out," developing the idea that a smallpox sign was the only thing that might make a stay-at-home vacation possible.

Mrs. Caleb Jackson also eschewed poetry and instead read an article, "To Vacate or Not to Vacate, and How," pointing out the pleasures and benefits to be derived from reading travel books.

Miss Marjorie Lusk contributed both a poem and a story, the verse on "Vacation Time," and the interesting story on "The Pass-word." Mrs. George Bond's vacation travels inspired two interesting sonnets which she read, "Crater Lake" and "Mackenzie River," and Mrs. C. C. Fuller brought the original program to a conclusion with an article vividly describing a thunder storm.

Three guests shared the afternoon, remaining for the delightful tea menu served by Mrs. Brown. They were Mrs. Caleb Jackson, Mrs. Anderson, mother of the hostess, and Mrs. White.

Pegasus members will meet next with Mrs. Justus Birtcher, 424 East Myrtle street, on Thursday afternoon, September 21.

Johnson-Dodge Wedding Is Charming Event In Costa Mesa

Scores of friends assembled in Costa Mesa Community church Saturday afternoon for the rites at 4 o'clock uniting Miss Dorothy Dodge, daughter of Judge and Mrs. D. J. Dodge of that community, and Byron Bethune Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Johnson, of St. Louis, Mo.

Simplicity was the keynote of the church decorations, in which gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums, all white, were mingled with greenery interspersed with many white candles.

Mrs. Dolores Martin arranged the charming decorations. Mrs. Veda Johnson was at the organ console for the wedding music, including the solo, "I Love You Truly," sung by Mrs. Grove S. Brown. It was the majestic music of Lohengrin's Wedding March that signalled the entry of the bride, Miss Dodge on the arm of her father, Judge Dodge, who gave her in marriage.

Lovely in the gown in which her mother had taken her wedding vows, the bride wore a little cap fashioned from lace from the veil which Mr. Johnson's mother wore, while as a bit of jewelry enhancing her costume, was a pendant worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Fannie M. Taylor. Her flowers were white gardenias with a shower of lilies of the valley.

Miss Vivian Russell, maid of honor, was attired in daffodil yellow, with which she carried souvenir roses. Miss Ann Pearce of Costa Mesa, and Miss Betty Halladay of San Juan Capistrano, wore graceful bridesmaid's frocks in apricot hue with matching muffs.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Charles Ryan, Hugh Henry, Walter Wright and Henry Meyer.

Beaucourt Circle members will have a covered-dish luncheon Wednesday at noon in Masonic temple. A business meeting and social time will follow.

Junior college Y. W. C. A. will hold a dinner dance Thursday evening at 6 o'clock in City Y. W. C. A. rooms, 105 East Fifth street. This is to honor all entering freshman women. A nominal charge will be made to other women students.

Business and Professional Women have had their attention called to the new meeting place of the club for tonight's 6 o'clock dinner, which will be served in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, 1330 North Main street. Mrs. Laura McNaught will have charge of the program, which will feature a talk by Dr. C. J. Ruley, carrying out the National B. P. W. plans for "Research" as the September study theme.

The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of First Congregational church, and Mrs. Schrock will be at home informally to all members and friends of that church, on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the parsonage home, 205 West Twentieth street. The Rev. and Mrs. Schrock introduced these informal at homes a year ago, and they have proven very popular with the church people and their friends.

Members of Capistrano Y. L. I. will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Getty hall, Fourth and Porter streets. This is in conjunction with the new schedule of meetings, which designates the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month for the sessions. All meetings are to be held at 8 o'clock in Getty hall.

The Southeast section of the Ladies' Aid of First Presbyterian church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. E. F. Gaeb, 212 East Chestnut street. All women living in the southeast section of the city are cordially invited to attend. Members are to come prepared to expand to report on the number of calls made during the summer.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The diver's scow was strange to see. It was as old as it could be and really looked like some old tub floating down the stream.

The Tines, though, thought it was grand. Cried Scouty, "Let me lend a hand at steering it. Say, this whole trip is almost like a dream."

"We all are happy, as we go, but where we're bound for we don't know. I hope we find some new adventure that will be real fun."

The diver answered, "Don't you fret. Some brand-new thrills you're going to get. You'll know that I've been kind to you, before this trip is done."

Then Duncy said, "Let's sing a song, and let our voices ring out strong." And so they all joined in. The words were really very cute.

"Six cheerful Tines are we. We're sailing o'er the deep, blue sea. We only hope that we will find a chutes that we can shoot. 'Twould be a thrill, and we don't think that this old clumsy boat will sink. However, if no chutes is near, an island strange will do."

"We'll travel it from shore to shore, to see what new sights are in store. Say, how about it, Mister Diver? It is up to you!"

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

When girls gossip on street cars only conductors can tell them where they get off.

The diver laughed and cried, "Hurray! 'Twas fine to hear you sing that way. And now I'll tell you something. For an island we are bound."

"Right on the island you can stay, but I will have to sail away. Then you can carry out your song, and see what can be found."

They reached the island. It was grand. "Oh, hurry, sir! We'll help you land," yelled Doty. Then a big gangplank was dropped to shore with ease.

"Now, Tines," the diver said, "when once on shore, walk straight ahead. A big surprise is waiting for you, way back in the trees."

TWO WELLS ON BEACH LOTS PRODUCE 3600 BARRELS OIL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 11.—The Richway Oil company's No. 2 well came in for 2400 barrels of 27 gravity oil and a couple of million feet of gas. Owners of the land, two town lots, under the lease, are Severens and DeWitte. The well is located on Twenty-first street between Walnut and Olive.

This is the second well on the two town lots. The first well is doing 1200 barrels a day. This gives a production of 3600 barrels a day from a plot of ground 50 by 117½ feet in dimensions. Severens and DeWitte receiving one-sixth of the production, will have 600 barrels of oil daily, worth $1 a barrel, in addition to the sixth of the gas. They paid $5000 for this pair of lots, but they from the Associated Oil company a few months ago.

The Ernie Coombs well on the ocean front between Twentieth and Twenty-first street, a huge gusher, was shut in Sunday morning to avoid waste of gas and because there is to be a test for a potential under conservation.

There is a disaffection here over the quota allotted this field by the committee on conservation as announced here by Hugh Pemberton, oil umpire for California. This city gets 18,500 barrels a day and of this 1500 barrels is to be held up to allow for new wells that come in. There are several leases in the field which can produce the entire quota allotted the field.

It is believed that Huntington Beach will receive a new quota. Unless some change is made in the plans as now announced, the new development in the field here must subside greatly and possibly cease entirely, according to oil operators.

It is believed that Huntington Beach will receive a new quota. Unless some change is made in the plans as now announced, the new development in the field here must subside greatly and possibly cease entirely, according to oil operators.

The Ernie Coombs well on the ocean front between Twentieth and Twenty-first street, a huge gusher, was shut in Sunday morning to avoid waste of gas and because there is to be a test for a potential under conservation.

There is a disaffection here over the quota allotted this field by the committee on conservation as announced here by Hugh Pemberton, oil umpire for California. This city gets 18,500 barrels a day and of this 1500 barrels is to be held up to allow for new wells that come in. There are several leases in the field which can produce the entire quota allotted the field.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT CHANGES TRADITIONAL U. S. POLICY

In a recent editorial in regard to the developments in Cuba, we called attention to the fact that it would probably be wise for the United States not to intervene in the situation there, but to simply provide facilities for removing our nationals from the scene of the conflict, in case fighting should start among the Cuban citizens. We declared that we hoped it would not be necessary to land any of our troops upon the island, though the administration thought it might be necessary.

It now looks as though the President is not going to permit himself to get in wrong with the Latin American countries by following a policy of intervention, and using our troops to "protect American life and property."

It will be remembered that last week Secretary of the Navy Swanson left on the U. S. S. Indianapolis for the Cuban waters. Big things were happening in Havana and he was headed there. He had been featured in all the papers as Commander of the Armada converging upon Cuban waters. He was to do big things.

It is said that suddenly there came a radio message from the White House. It reached the Secretary of the Navy a few hours before he was going to land in Havana. It ordered him not to go ashore in the Cuban capital. He was to remain aboard his ship—a virtual prisoner.

The reason for this order from President Roosevelt was very evidently the bad effect which the landing of the highest officer of the Navy would have upon the public of the Latin American countries, for they would doubtless conceive that he was leading an attack upon Cuba.

This policy of President Roosevelt is diametrically opposite from that pursued by the United States for a number of years. For our government, in the past, has interfered with the domestic affairs of nations to the south of us and in the Caribbean, without any reference to the sovereignty of the country and to the thoughts of the people in the invaded and sister governments. When we sent marines to Haiti and Nicaragua, when we took Panama, and when we invaded Mexico, we consulted no other nation.

It is singular that last week, in the face of the trouble in Cuba, the President called in the representatives of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Mexico, and conferred with them on the state of Cuba. As is well known, according to the provisions of the Platt amendment, we have a right to intervene when the stability of the Cuban government is threatened, without consulting with any other government.

It seems to us that conferring with these other nations was good diplomacy. If it is still necessary (which we hope will not be the case) for us to clean up the present chaos in Cuba, there will doubtless be very little suspicion on the part of the Central and South American governments that we have started another imperialistic drive to extend our territory or to exploit another people.

A HEARTENING ATTITUDE

In the midst of all the efforts by various organizations to increase income, the attitude of N. W. Ayer and Son, nationally known advertising agency, upon the advertising of liquor, is quite heartening.

Whether one agrees with the attitude of the president of that organization, William F. Fry, or whether he does not, the fact that this advertising leader can refuse business because of the belief in a greater vision, or that the business itself, which he refuses, tends to destroy the business of every other client with whom he is connected, is a view that will have weight with us all. In refusing to use his agency for this line, he said:

The moral questions involved in repeal can be left out entirely. But, from a purely business standpoint, we still cannot see a very happy result in the return of liquor. It is true that revenue from alcohol will contribute many millions of dollars to Federal, State and local treasuries but this contribution, in the main, will be made by that class of the public which can least afford to make it. This was true before prohibition, and it will unquestionably be true when prohibition is repealed.

The liquor business has not changed. When the thirty-sixth state has been lined up, it will be run by the same old crowd in the same old way. Many decades ago my firm adopted the policy of not advertising alcohol. The reason for this is simply that, as an advertising agency, we must identify ourselves so closely with the affairs of our clients that we are, in effect, a part of their businesses.

In the case of a client who manufactures or distributes alcoholic beverages, this would create for us an impossible situation, since we would then be in the position of making alcohol attractive to the youth of this country. Furthermore, we do not wish to classify our other clients with the liquor business.

A NOVEL BEER GARDEN

The steamship Leviathan, acquired by our government from Germany after the war, is to appear in a new role. The one-time monster of the sea is to be converted into a beer garden and a floating amusement park. Trans-Atlantic passenger business has been dull the past few years, and the great ship has been laid up. To quote the words of Horatio, in the play, "To what base uses things may return."

It seems a pity that a noble and historic ship should become a night club. The waste of it is tragic enough. The millions of dollars which it cost originally is a high price to pay for an amusement park. Of course, the ship has become a white elephant. Things are moving very fast in these days. The novelty of yesterday becomes the commonplace of today. One has but to visit "The Century of Progress" in Chicago to note that we are on the eve of changes in every single department of human activity and mechanical devices, which will make obsolete everything that we have today in a year or two hence.

Sometimes it seems as if we had about reached the goal of mechanical achievement. When the Leviathan was launched as the Vaterland, the ship was the last, and to some it seemed the final, word in ocean fleetness and luxury. Now we have the Rex, which has made the Leviathan look like an old frigate of the line. Surely the ingenuity of man is marvelous. There seems to be no limit to what it can accomplish. With the Leviathan becoming a beer garden, it is not difficult to believe that the marvelous exhibits of the Century of Progress will soon appear like the caravels used by Columbus to discover America.

THE COAL CODE

After the presentation of thirty different codes by the coal operators, the president had to step in and write a code for the coal industry. The operators were given until the following Saturday night to bring in their objections. As usual, the answer was that they could not state all their objections in so short a time. General Johnson refused to receive their letter formally, and called in four of the leaders among the operators and talked "turkey" to them.

The code stipulates wages, hours of labor, and the regulation of coal prices. It also writes in the provision of the law relating to collective bargaining between operators and workers. The recovery administration has had a great many difficulties to overcome in codifying industries, and has thus far succeeded well. Only coal and Mr. Ford remain to be brought into line; and it cannot be possible that either of them can withstand the pressure of public opinion which is decidedly behind the administration and the Recovery Act.

It may be granted that the coal operators are facing trying problems. The industry is in a state of anarchy. It has been called a sick industry. But the way out for the industry must be along the lines suggested by the code. It is no longer possible for one of the basic industries of the country to continue along the lines it has been going for well-nigh a generation. The code offers a way out. Pride of power or stubbornness must not stand in the way of order and justice.

Ten Nights Anniversary

Just eighty years ago last week the curtain of the National Theater here went up on the first performance of "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room." The drama had been evolved by William W. Pratt from the novel by T. S. Arthur, and an actor named Yankee Locke was named as the star performer on that momentous bill. Later the Howards, of Tom Show fame, and their daughter, Cordella, were to barnstorm the Nation in the play, and Professor O'Neill was to write of it: "The second 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' on all country circuits. If the other play abolished slavery, perhaps after many years 'Ten Nights' brought upon us prohibition." It was seen here at Mr. Golden's theater as recently as two seasons ago, and the last record of a stock company is that of one which failed while presenting the play last May in the reaches of rural New England.

Eighty years is a pretty good life span for a play, even if in its last days it was mostly presented as a burlesque upon its own moral-laden original. How many other plays of that and subsequent periods—"Nobody's Daughter," "Saved by Chance," "Lottery of Life"—have survived even as a familiar name? But of the impious, delight of the naive, "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room," whatever its esthetic shortcomings, was as much a national institution as harness racing, Niagara Falls and pie for breakfast, and deserves a place in any collection of true Americana.

Forest Workers Have Good Appetites

Some rather astounding figures on the quantity of food consumed by the 300,000 young men now in the Civilian Conservation Corps emphasize one benefit accruing from the reforestation camps which has been less stressed than others. The American farmer has suffered because of the lack of markets for his produce, and yet here is a cash market which, even though in ratio to the total population is comparatively small, cannot be overlooked.

Recent statistics show that each month this young army consumes 5,625,000 pounds of beef, 2,250,000 pounds of pork, 6,750,000 pounds of flour, 9,000,000 eggs, and so on. The announcement that one morning at a camp of 200 young men a total of 2200 hotcakes were consumed gives some hint of the butter and syrup needed for a thirty-day period.

While it may be argued that whether in civilian camps or elsewhere, these 300,000 would still be eating and consuming farm products, it is most unlikely that they would be eating anywhere near as heartily or regularly if scattered about the streets or charity kitchens of the big cities.

In numerous agricultural communities in the Middle West and East, the establishment of the civilian camps has proved a veritable life-saver for the adjacent farmers, giving them a cash market for much of their butter, eggs, milk and similar produce.

Feeding the Children

There is one effect of N. R. A. concerning which there must be unanimous approval, or at least the appearance of such unanimity. Anybody regretting that the yoke of labor has been removed from children would be ashamed to declare his sentiments.

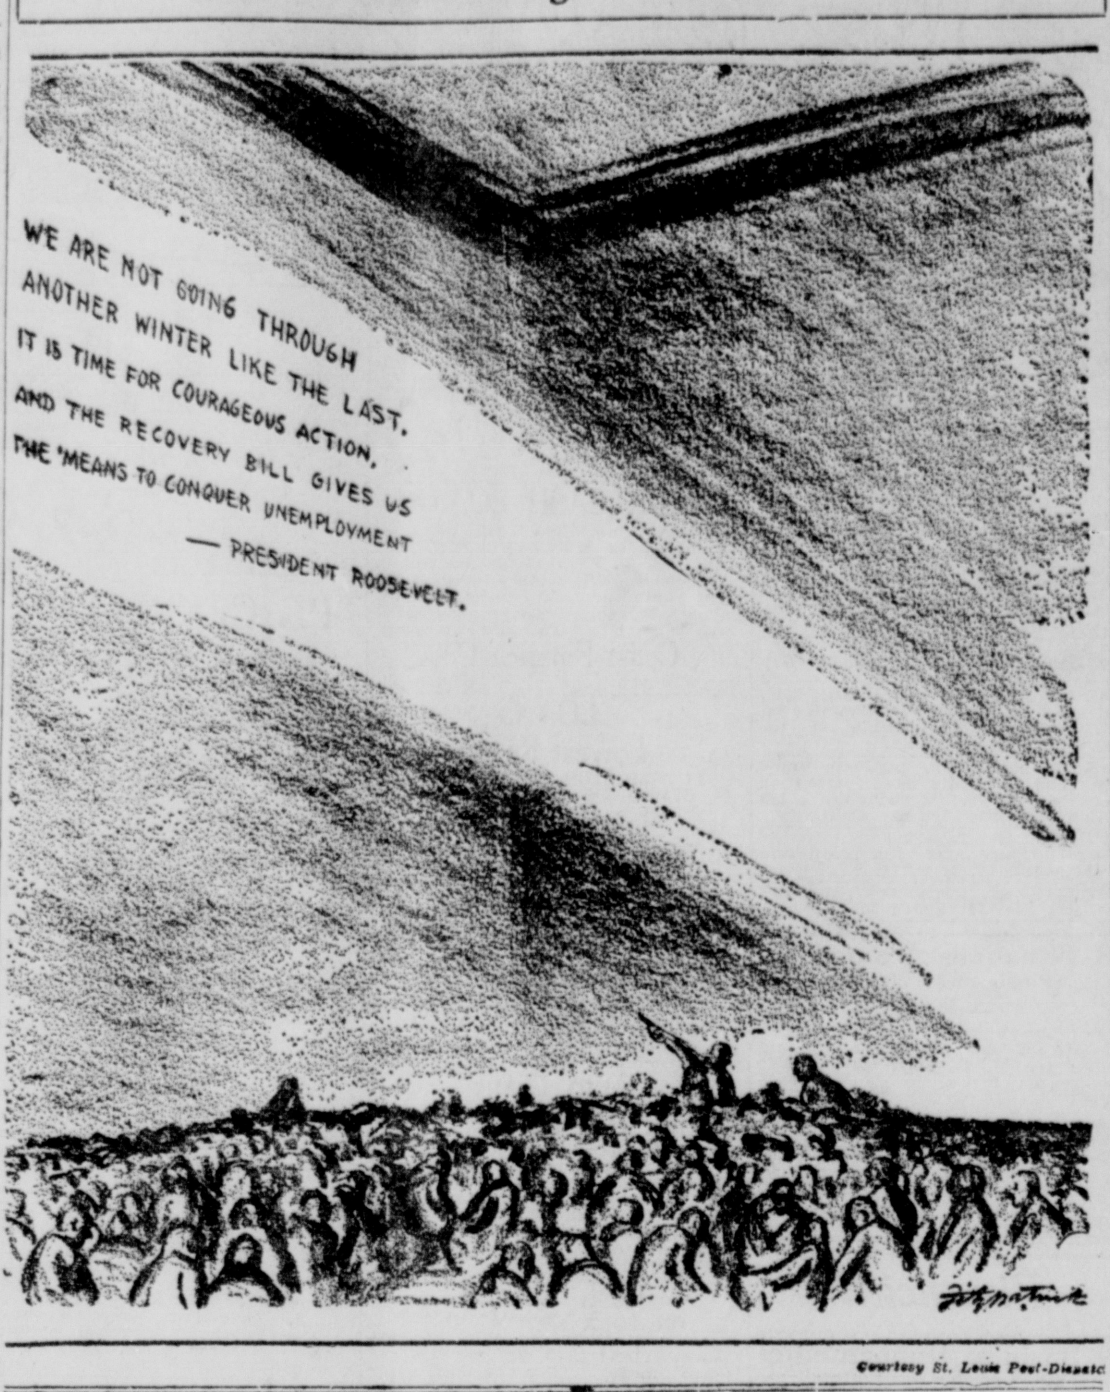

For many years there has been an effort to have the constitution so amended as to permit Congress to put an end to child labor. Against this reform there had been a sinister and powerful movement. Certain industries derived profit from employing boys and girls. The fact that the little workers were stunted in body and mind while earning a meager wage did not enter into the consideration of the beneficiaries of their toil.

Congress wanted to enact the necessary law, indeed, had passed such a law, only to have it vetoed by a president who would have signed it eagerly but for the constitutional inhibition. Suddenly emergency legislation solved the problem for the moment.

It is to be borne in mind that the regulations under which industry is functioning now are but temporary. They may prove so satisfactory that their work will make them permanent.

Meanwhile the struggle for the amendment should go on in order to prevent return of an abuse so gross, were present rules to cease governing, and codes, having served their purpose, to be dissolved.

The Handwriting On The Wall

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

DON'T BELIEVE HIM
Rudyard Kipling has told his fellow craftsmen that writers cannot lie.

I believed that the masters of fiction
In every country and time
Could write without let or restriction—
Unlike us mere scribblers of rhyme.
I thought they employed their invention
In turning out novel or skit,
And that if they attracted attention
The truth didn't matter a bit.

HANS ANDERSEN, Grimm and the tellers
Of the tales that come down from the Greeks
I supposed were just regular fellers
Who wrote with their tongues in their cheeks—
That whatever they put into writing
Was intended their living to gain,
And must always be wildly exciting,
Though of fact it held never a grain.

I even supposed Mr. Kipling,
When he took up his free-flowing pen,
And sought, when he still was a stripling,
To make animals gabble like men,
Thought of fame, and the best way to win it,
As does many an ambitious youth,
And never, as much as a minute,
Believed he was writing the truth.

But my faith in R. K. has been shaken;
Though still lusty and virile and spry,
In tones that cannot be mistaken,
He announces that writers can't lie.
When I glance through the tales he has written,
Which I find on my library shelf,
With the earnest belief I am smitten
That Rudyard has told one himself.

A scientist isn't like a prophet. Nobody blames him if his predicted shower of meteors fails to appear.

The striking feature of the R. F. C. and N. R. A. and their like is the initial outlay.

"The first syllable of Roosevelt," says a magazine, "is pronounced like the past tense of 'rise.'" Sure; you mean rise.

AMERICANISM: Reducing life to a business of fool-proof button pushing; wondering what happened to American character and initiative.

Some dreads of autocracy says he may become Roosevelt the First. Better that than Roosevelt, the last.

We no longer hope to understand a world in which the man who works too hard is a public enemy.

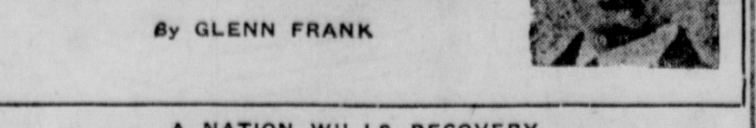

What can you expect after marriage when they learn at the age of 14 that man's chief duty is to show them a good time.

FOR THE FIRST YEAR SHE LAYS OUT HIS PIPE AND SLIPPERS. AFTER THAT SHE LAYS HIM OUT.

Thoughts On Modern Life

A NATION WILL RECOVER

I have had three great experiences that will never leave my memory while life lasts.

Three times I have seen the separate wills of individual men and women, under the exultation of a great occasion, melt into the single will of a group.

One night during the war I sat in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and saw the thousand and one divergent opinions and purposes of a great throng merge in one all-conquering determination to spend and be spent in the war then being waged.

I sat one morning in the Chartres Cathedral and saw men and women and children, from peasant to prince, become one in the presence of the mystery of the Mass.

And the other evening I sat with a small company for the hour or more when the distance-erasing magic of radio enabled the American millions to join in the sacrament of the will-to-recovery.

There was something of the sanctity of the scene at Chartres about this nation-wide appeal for dedication to the purposes of the NRA. The rich spiritual quality of Schuman-Heink's voice, the crystal sincerity of Will Rogers, and the sense that General Johnson gave of a man fighting against time to pull a civilization together made the moment memorable.

If the rank and file of listeners were moved by that hour as I was moved, we saw that night the miracle of the spiritual unification of a people. History may record that on the evening of August 27, 1933 the American people became one in an invincible will-to-recovery. In this, as in other great historic moments, the objective of the national will is simple although its implications are as wide as life. We have willed that everybody shall have more and buy more.

This is the gist of the NRA drive. It is innocent of involved economic terminologies. The last layman in the byways and highways can understand it. But even the experts admit that if this double objective can be realized by a people united in a national determination, the depression will be at an end.

Our Children

SAY THANK YOU
Mrs. King gave Martha a bit of red ribbon for her doll. "Did you say 'thank you,' Martha?" whispered mother anxiously.

"Yes," Martha whispered back hoarsely. "It isn't much of a ribbon but I thanked her just to make her feel good."

And that's a bit of wisdom out of the mouth of a babe if ever there was one. Thank people just to make them feel good and you do a service to the world of suffering humanity. If you haven't tried it begin now for it will make you feel as though the great depression has lifted off your shoulders and the mantle of light had come to rest upon them.

We don't begin to thank people as we ought. You went to church last Sunday and listened to a good sermon. After service you walked home thinking how good it was. "He's a pretty good preacher. I don't know where there is a kinder, better man. He's a real comfort." But not a word of that to the pastor. He went home wondering if he had hit the mark. If his effort had been realized, if only someone had stopped to tell him he had helped what a difference it would have made.

The doctor helped you with a sick child. He sent his bill and by and by, after many days as our way with doctors' bills you paid it. Did you say, "Thank you, doctor. I am paying this bill with the deepest gratitude for what you did for the child. Your voice brought him courage and your eased his pain. We can only thank you and hope you know how we feel about it." How light that message would make the tired doctor's heart.

Did you ever thank the teacher for helping your John and your Mary? Of course she is paid for it but thank her for doing what she can never be paid for and see her face light up, see the gentleness in her eyes as she says, "It was a pleasure to help such lovely children." Thanks are so rare and yet so easy to bestow.

Think of all the people who are doing things in the hope that somebody will be pleased, that somebody will be happier, more comfortable. Think of all those who work for the welfare of little children—the milkman, who delivers that bottle of milk and the long line behind him back to the farmer's boy who milked the cow. Think of all the great army of us working all the days of our lives for daily bread—and for the happiness of the rest of the world. How much a word of appreciation would mean to each of them.

Write a note to the teacher. Send a line to the author of the book you liked, to the actor whose work you enjoyed, to the radio artist who pleased you. A postal card doesn't cost so much and it will give you as much joy to say that 'thank you' as it will bring to the heart of the worker.

We all grow plenty. We speak right up about the thing that goes wrong. But we keep a strict silence about the things that go right. Try saying thank you to the children, to the members of the family, and then to as many people as you can reach in a day and see what a charm you have captured.
